ROLL OF HONOUR.

IN MEMORIAM.

ELLIOTT—In loving memory of Robert Victor, 49th Battalion Canadian Infantry, of Edmonton, Canada, second son of Mrs. Elliott, Liverpool, who died of wounds received in action, on the Somme, 3rd October, 1916.

Far and oft our thoughts do wander
To a grave far, far away,
Where they laid our darling Victor,
Just four years ago to-day.

Inserted by his loving mother.

FITZGERALD—In loving memory of my dear son, Lieutenant R. W. FitzGerald, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, killed in action 4th October, 1918.

INDUSTRY AND HEALTH

It is well for everybody to recognise the connection between Industry and Health. The effective prosecution of the one depends upon the satisfactory condition of the other. You cannot work well—at any rate you cannot do your best work—if you are not in a good condition of health. The digestive system, naturally, plays an important part in the maintenance of the general health. Hence the importance of directing the attention from time to time to the maintenance of its efficiency. To this end Beecham's Pills will be found of the greatest service. Beecham's Pills operate gently and naturally upon the organs of digestion and assimilation, imparting tone to the stomach and promoting activity of the liver and bowels. Taken from time to time, this excellent medicine will greatly contribute towards preserving the fitness necessary to your best work. There are thousands of people who keep in good health by taking Beecham's Pills. Their experience should prompt you to follow their example. You may be sure that all work, whether it be of brawn or brain, will be all the better performed if you keep at the top of your condition by taking

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Sold everywhere in boxes, labelled 1/1½ (56 pills) and 2/9 (168 pills).

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

"THE MAID OF THE MOUNTAINS."

We were pleased to renew our acquaintance with "The Maid of the Mountains" at the Gaiety Theatre last night, and to meet Miss Ethel Cadman as Teresa, a part she played with fine dramatic sense and expression, whilst her pleasantly-modulated voice gave an added charm to the many pretty numbers which fall to her lot. She was ably supported by a good company, which included Mr. Noel Dainton as a particularly effective Baldasarre, and Mr. Claude Spencer as Beppo. The duet in the second act by Teresa and Beppo brought out the best qualities of the two well-balanced voices. The comedy element relies very much for its success on the contrasting styles exhibited by Tonio and the General, and Messrs. William Spray and Tom E. Shale are to be congratulated on their success in these two respective rôles. Miss Frances McCleish, as Angela, and Miss Doris Dean, as Vittoria, both beautifully dressed, were uniformly good, and the chorus both sang and danced with spirit and ability. The augmented orchestra, under Mr. Leonard Hay, interpreted the music with an appropriate light touch; whilst the staging was in full keeping with the George Edwardes tradition. The theatre was crowded in every part.

THE THEATRE ROYAL.

A musical comedy, entitled "What Next?" is the principal part of the entertainment at the Theatre Royal this week, and it had a decidedly encouraging reception from the two "houses" last evening. The title gives no indication of the nature of the piece, but it will not be regarded as an exaggeration to say that it is a highly amusing, brisk, and bright series of scenes, in which song and dance, and merry humour abound. The opening scene takes place in a restaurant, where the Rajah of Zambook and one of his numerous wives are guests. The black potentate falls in love with one of the pretty girls, and his wife falls in love with the leading comedian, Tommy Neildon, upon whose shoulders falls the light burden of the office of merry-maker-in-chief. From the restaurant the party is transferred to the deck of a ship that is bound with the Rajah and his treasure from the main land to the island of Zambook. The design of a few of the passengers is to throw the Rajah overboard, and "collar the swag," and the execution of that little conspiracy is productive of a great deal of amusement. The ladies in the company are numerous, and the dresses are very dainty. The Six Brothers Luck, who are responsible for the entire production, are entitled to congratulate themselves upon the unqualified success which attended the performance last evening. The other turns on the programme were filled by Miss Frances Kinders, vocalist and dancer, and Maudie and Syd McLloyd, who also give a variety dance.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

A domestic drama, "A Mother's Love," is the attraction at the Queen's Theatre this week. It is a play which appeals to the heart of the audience. The plot is one which unfolds a story of love, in which the hero has many difficult situations to face, but from which he emerges successfully. There are many exciting incidents, and interest is preserved throughout. The acting at both performances last evening was of a high standard, the cast being capably filled. The entire production, under the direction of Mr. Ira Allen, reached a high standard, and was enjoyed by large audiences. Amongst the artists who acquitted themselves with distinction were:—The Misses May Murnane, Florrie Amery, Molly Douglas, May Fitzpatrick, and Messrs. T. Moran, Ira Allen, Leo Strong, P. MacCormac, C. O'Driscoll, and P. Carolan. The play was effectively staged. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. C. Levenston, played several enjoyable selections.

THE EMPIRE THEATRE.

Signor Capelli, the Italian tenor, is again a strong attraction at the Empire Theatre this week. His fine singing is growing in popularity each week, and at the two performances last evening, which were well supported, he won unstinted applause for the cultured manner in which he rendered his three items. He was signally successful, and rapturously encored. "The Bridal Suite" is a laughable sketch by Seymour Hicks, and it was well received. Mr. Vincent Lawson and Miss Grace Russell are "He" and "She," respectively, and both interpreted their parts with distinctive ability, while they were ably supported by D. Macquoil and J. Bevan as the maid and valet. The comedy sketch, "Mary Ellen Makes Good," which was produced by Miss Maire Sweeney, had as good a reception as on previous occasions. The piece was well presented, and the acting was all that could be desired, the audience enjoying the many humorous incidents very heartily. The cast is in the clever hands of Mr. John Neilan, Mr. M. K. Flanagan, Miss Maire Sweeney, and Miss Claire Arthurs. The remainder of the programme is of a varied character. Bert Neilson is an exceptionally clever dancer, who deserved the plaudits he gained; Fairbanks and Lang, of original "Gotham" fame, were excellent; Harry Jameson is an entertaining light comedian; Jack Cunard and Sister are fine dancers, and Angel and Rose are acceptable entertainers.

THE TIVOLI THEATRE.

There are many good things in the programme at the Tivoli Theatre this week, and the two audiences last evening marked their approval of the fare provided for them. Miss Rose Coleman O'Byrne contributed a couple of songs, which were highly appreciated. She is one of Dublin's rising sopranos. Stelling and Scott, a pair of droll comedians, indulged in some clever patter, but it is as dancers that they excel. Tom Dean, a Lancashire comedian, sang some humorous descriptive songs, which brought him many a hearty laugh. A comedy juggler of much dexterity and resource is Harry Friskey. His work was smartly done, and was quite interesting. The audiences were more than usually attracted by the performance of Martin Breedis, who is described as a "Man of Might." He is really a strong man, and gave a convincing example of his power. Jack and Betty, a comedy duo; Chris Van Breen, the joker, and Charlie Robinson, popular vocal comedian, contributed acceptable turns.

MOUNTBELLEW SHOW.

The Mountbellew (County Galway) Agricultural Show was held on Wednesday, September 29th, and was favoured with fine weather. It proved a great success. There was a substantial increase in the number of animals exhibited in the various stock classes, and a marked improvement in the quality of the cattle, sheep, and pigs, as compared with previous years. There was a slight falling off in the crops, garden, and home produce sections, but the quality of the exhibits in both the first-named sections was excellent, despite the unfavourable weather experienced for some time past. The following were the principal winners in the live-stock classes:—

Horses.—J. Devilly, Headford; P. Raftery, Gurteen; Mrs. J. J. Elder, Ballinasloe; S. Mullen, Moylough.

Cattle.—Lord Clonbrock, Ahascragh; J. Collins, Ballygar; J. McCormack, Williamstown; D. Commins, Moylough.

Sheep.—M. Moran, Mountbellew; J. Higgins, Woodlawn; D. Commins, Moylough.

Pigs.—The Agricultural College Mountbellew; P. Cunningham, Mountbellew.

There was a very large entry for the jumping and driving competitions, and all events were keenly contested. The principal winners were:—Mrs. O'Kelly, Mullingar; Mrs. D'Arcy, New Forest; Miss Grattan Bellew, Mountbellew; Mr. J. O'Brien, Claremorris; Mr. M. O'Connor, Irishtown, Co. Mayo.

THE DUBLIN SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

At the weekly meeting of the Committee of the Dublin Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (Incorporated), Mr. William Percin presided. The following were also present:—Miss E. Tuckey, Mrs. Betham, and Major Arthur Whewell.

Eleven cases of cruelty were reported by the inspectors during the week. Three are to be summoned, two to be cautioned, five postponed for further consideration, and on one no order was made.

Reports on dogs sold and claimed at the Dogs' Home, Grand Canal quay, during the week were submitted.

Reply from the Stillorgan Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was read relative to visiting the Rock and Stillorgan roads on market days in connection with cattle being driven thereon.

The following contributions were thankfully acknowledged, viz.:—Miss Ella Browne, £1 10s.; Messrs. Ed. O'Keeffe, Ltd., £1; Miss Hume, 10s.; Miss M. Geoghegan, 2s. 6d. Donkey Fund: Messrs. Cantrell and Cochrane, Ltd., £1; Miss H. Charley, 2s. 6d.; Miss E. F. Perrier, £1; Frank V. Martin, Esq., £1; Frank Browning, Esq., £1; T. A. O'Far[illegible], Esq., £1 1s.; [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS.

NOTTINGHAM MEETING—YESTERDAY.

Although the fields were not altogether in keeping with the extraordinary entries, the sport at Colwick Park yesterday went with a capital swing, but unfortunately for the comfort of the company rain fell for the greater part of the afternoon. Mr. Galstaun had one of his gambles on Rock Dew in the Castle Selling, but he had to lay 5 to 1 on, and lost his horse, which was bought by Mr. G. W. Smith for 1,000 guineas, a record sale for Nottingham. Foazam and Turkey Trot colt, the pair being in chief demand, fought out a good finish for the Trent Selling Plate, and Foazam, after winning, was bought by the owner of the second for 750 gns. Backers had a set-back in the Bestwood Nursery, which Ration won, getting the best of a bad start, and leading throughout. There appeared to be no grounds for the objection which followed, with the result that the Stewards ordered the deposit to be forfeited. Celandine, which is weighed at 6st. 11lb. in the Cesarewitch, won the Nottingham Handicap by a short head from Yutoi. Front Line, another Cesarewitch candidate, dead-heated for third place, but Furore ran indifferently, and none of yesterday's runners look like coming to victory at Newmarket. Valentine Vox was an easy winner of the Southwell Three-Year-Old Handicap. Avocet, which was backed down to evens, putting up a very moderate show, and in conclusion Charming Lady beat Amboyna. Details:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Rockdew was scratched from the Cesarewitch at 9 a.m. yesterday.

Our Newmarket correspondent says that Mr. Martin's Cesarewitch candidate, African Star, pulled up yesterday rather sore after a mile gallop with R. D. Sir Cunliffe Owen's candidate, Spearwort, for the same event, was coughing slightly after having a smart five furlongs gallop.

Campbell, Banbridge, 3½ Norton (3 secs.); 3rd, John Sands, Ballynaskeagh, 4¼ B.S.A. (13 secs.).

The third fixture, an open solo for light-weights, not over 350 c.c., was won by S. M. Adams, Belfast, 2¾ Verus (scratch); 2nd, F. A. Newell, Belfast, 2¾ Verus (1 secs.); 3rd, J. F. McKee, Banbridge, 2¾ Douglas (2 secs.).

"Nothing has the same lasting results"

Hall's Wine not only enables the body to resist disease, but it quickly and permanently restores the wasted frame to health after illness or operation.

It is used with consistent success in Nerve Weakness, Anæmia and Breakdown—in the words of a well-known Medical Man, "nothing has the same lasting results."

It is no wonder that doctors prescribe Hall's Wine, and have done so for nearly thirty years, when it has won such glowing tribute to its worth.

Hall's Wine

THE SUPREME TONIC RESTORATIVE

A doctor writes of this wonderful tonic: "Hall's Wine braced me up so effectually that I have pinned my faith to it ever since."

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

NOTTINGHAM, MONDAY NIGHT.

After to-day's downpour the going is bound to handicap many of the competitors to-morrow, and the gallop over the seven furlongs track for the Sherwood Forest Nursery, a race of a 1,000 sovs., will furnish a real test of stamina. I note that Oxendon, Wine Taster colt, Pharpar, and Hark Forrard are a likely quintette to provide the winner, and, perhaps, Hark Forrard or Wine Taster colt may win. For the minor races my selections are:—

Colwick Park Plate—Brash (in the absence of Ritayleen filly.

Welbeck Handicap—Rockspilt.

Trial Plate—Illuminator.

Elvaston Plate—Elfterion.

Bentinck Welter—My Land (in the absence of Sir Berkeley).

BILLIARDS.

SMITH v. REECE.

Smith held a lead of 2,874 when the heat with Reece was resumed at Burroughes' Hall, London, yesterday afternoon, in a poor scoring session. Later he succeeded in aggregating 707 against 565, the averages being 17 and 13, respectively. Best breaks were:—169 (full), 195, and 79, by Smith; and 84 and 184 by Reece. Interval scores:—Smith (scr.), 8,565; Reece (rec. 500) (in play), 5,833.

At night Smith was the more consistent, and outpointed his opponent by 768 to 539, the averages being 33 and 21 respectively. The best breaks were 208, 90, and 96 by Smith, and 141, 62, and 70 by Reece. Closing scores:—Smith (in play), 9,333; Reece, 6,372.

NEWMAN v. AIKEN.

In yesterday afternoon's session of this match of 16,000 up, in Edinburgh, Newman, though playing well, only once reached three figures (117), his other breaks including 88 (twice), 89, and 93. Aiken had a contribution of 130. Interval scores:—Newman, 8,397; Aiken (in play), 7,732.

BOXING.

RICE DEFEATS JOSEPHS.

The final of the competition for the Light-weight Belt, promoted by the management of the Ring, Blackfriars, London, was decided last night, when Jack Josephs (Pontypridd) and Ernie Rice (Hounslow), the younger brother of Bandsman Rice, met in a twenty rounds contest for the honours. It was a capital contest, as far as it went, but it was always the case of a clever boxer against a determined fighter, Josephs representing the first, and Rice the second. At the outset, Rice went all out in his customary aggressive style, and Josephs was hustled and worried for three rounds, but then he got the measure of his man, and outboxed him. He was always scoring with his left subsequently, and was the better man in all respects, faster and cleverer, and with more resource. At the end of the eighth round he had a good balance of points in his favour, but then to the general surprise he retired from the contest in consequence, it was understood, of having injured his left hand.

THE NATIONAL SPORTING CLUB SEASON.

With the re-opening of the National Sporting Club, Covent Garden, London, last night, the serious season of boxing in London really commenced. There was a large attendance, and an interesting programme of events, the contest of chief importance being a fifteen rounds match for £200 between Johnny Brown (Hamilton) and Albert Riches (Dulwich). Brown, boxing in his own name of Fleming, won the amateur featherweight championship last March, after securing the East of Scotland championship last autumn, while Riches, a former well-known amateur, had won all but one of his sixteen matches since joining the paid ranks. It promised a great encounter, but the promise was not realised. Brown was always much the cleverer boxer, and had much more power behind his blows. Riches was down in the second round, and again in the third for a count of eight. He made a good recovery, but was always outboxed and outfought. In the fifth round he was floored twice, and having been knocked down four times in the sixth, the referee stopped the contest and awarded the fight to Brown.

JOHNNY SUMMERS' EASY WIN.

At Canning Town last night Johnny Summers (of Canning Town), the old Light-weight champion, defeated Harry Holmes (of Plumstead) in the fourth of a scheduled twenty rounds' contest. Summers was much too good for his man in all respects, and after the opening round had him so well beaten that he retired.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT.—A bridge tournament will be held at the Salthill Hotel on Thursday and Friday next at 3 o'clock in aid of the Eye and Ear Hospital. Very good prizes will be competed for.

The death has occurred at Carlisle of Dr. William Murray, a well-known Newcastle consulting physician, aged 81. Dr. Murray, who studied under Sir William Jenner and Sir Alfred Garrod, founded the Y.M.C.A. at Newcastle.

DUBLIN CORPORATION.

SHIPPING CLERKS' DISPUTE.

THE MUNICIPAL FINANCES.

QUESTIONS OF CLOSING HOSPITALS.

A quarterly meeting of the Municipal Council of the City of Dublin was held yesterday in the Council Chamber, City Hall, the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor (Alderman L. O'Neill) presiding.

The Lord Mayor said that many sad things had happened during the past two or three months. One such an event had occurred in the family of one of their colleagues, Councillor P. J. Doyle—as they were aware he had lost his son under circumstances of a very tragic nature indeed. It would ill become them if they let that opportunity slip without showing their grief in the calamity that had overtaken their colleague. He moved that the regret of the Council be extended to Councillor Doyle on the death of his son.

Mr. O'Laughlin seconded the motion, which was passed in the usual way.

DEPUTATION FROM NURSES' UNION.

Mrs. McGarry and Miss Price attended as a deputation from the Irish Nurses' Union in connection with the contemplated closing down of the Dublin hospitals.

Miss Price said that they had come there to protest against the closing of the Tuberculosis Hospital and of the hospitals generally. She did not know much about the affairs of the Corporation, but it seemed to her curious when she read the account of the meeting of the 16th September that the Corporation proposed to raise new money by the creation of additional stock for street improvements, the new Roundwood Reservoir, and so forth, and let the public health go. It seemed to her that if £160,000 could be raised to complete the Roundwood Reservoir which had been awaiting completion for about twenty years that that work might wait another year, and that the money might be devoted to the hospitals. The Nurses' Union would at any rate like to be assumed that the Corporation had thrashed out every possible means by which the hospitals might be kept open. Apart from the nurses, the health of the city would suffer, and that was a serious matter for the ordinary ratepayer, apart altogether from the interests of the Nurses' Union.

The Lord Mayor said that a letter on the question of the hospitals would come before the Council at a later stage, and naturally the nurses' remarks would be considered.

THE TUBERCULOSIS INSTITUTIONS.

Alderman Lawlor, at a late stage, moved a report of the Tuberculosis Committee of Management relative to closing of tuberculosis institutions, consequent upon the order of the Council of 6th September last. The effect, said the Alderman, of the closing down of sanatoria and hospitals would be the spread of tuberculosis among the citizens of Dublin, especially among the poorer classes. At Crooksling there were 140 cases, 40 of which required skilled attention to prevent them becoming ulcerous. They must look forward to these people living under these conditions in the next few weeks unless something was done. He thought that they should try to squeeze from the Local Government Board the moneys necessary for the purpose of carrying on. They should bring the Local Government Board into court, and do all they could to get the money out of them.

Mr. Brohoon seconded.

Dr. McWalter referred to a letter which had been sent from the Presidents of the Colleges of Surgeons and of Physicians, and one or two other members of the Medical Faculty, suggesting that they might act as intermediaries to see if the necessary money could be raised.

It was arranged to refer the entire matter to consideration by a Committee of the Whole House on Friday.

SHIPPING CLERKS' DISPUTE.

Mr. P. T. Daly said that, as a matter of urgency, the Council had a right to get a report as to the result of the interview between the Lord Mayor and High Sheriff and Mr. Barry, representing the British and Irish Company, in connection with the dispute of transport and shipping clerks. He understood that Mr. Barry had dismissed certain employés because he alleged inefficiency against some of them. He mentioned in particular the ledger clerks, but the peculiar thing was that the ledger clerks were all back, and in cases where charges of inefficiency were made men had actually been offered increases of salary to induce them to turn their backs on their unions, and their comrades. The very people who were kept out were men who took a prominent part in the fight against conscription. Every man who had taken a prominent part in that movement had, it was alleged, been victimised.

The Lord Mayor said that about two months ago a gentleman named Loran made a strong statement in reference to Mr. Barry, in which he attributed to him religious bigotry and political intolerance. The Council asked Dr. McWalter and himself to interview Mr. Barry, which they did. He did not know what Dr. McWalter's opinion was, but he (the Lord Mayor) was satisfied from the evidence placed before them at the interview that the charge by Mr. Loran broke down. He also discovered that the Clerical Workers' Union were thrown over by the Liverpool Union with which they were connected, and made paddle their own canoe. It was ascertained that there was a percentage of Protestants in those dismissed.

Dr. McWalter (High Sheriff) said that he was a little disappointed with Mr. Barry. The charge of religious intolerance was not proved, and it was decided to leave the matter to the good sense of Mr. Barry to take back as many as he could. He confessed that they had reason to be disappointed at the way in which that had been done.

Alderman Byrne said that as a result of the intercession of the Lord Mayor and Dr. McWalter a number of men had been reinstated, and it would be well if their good offices were to continue. No matter how Mr. Barry tried to cloak it over, a number of men who took part in the anti-conscription campaign were victimised.

A suggestion that Mr. Barry should submit the entire present matter to arbitration was unanimously adopted.

OFFER OF THE MUNSTER AND LEINSTER BANK.

A letter was submitted from the City Treasurer, submitting an offer from the Munster and Leinster Bank for the purchase of £200,000 Dublin Corporation 3½ p.c. Redeemable Stock, advising the acceptance of the terms offered, and asking the Council to authorise the affixing of the City Seal to the necessary agreement.

Alderman Cosgrave moved, and Sir A. Beattie seconded, the resolution necessary for acceptance.

Dr. McWalter said that the Corporation could not do better than accept the offer, but did it not mean that they were accepting it under conditions identical with the ordinary rules of the L.G.B., by which they would have to submit their books to audit?

Alderman Cosgrave said that some people, including Dr. McWalter, and ex-Councillor J. S. Kelly, had come to the conclusion that the reiteration of certain statements would convince even themselves of their truth in the long run. It had certainly not convinced the citizens. The facts of the case were—there were decrees against the Corporation to the extent of £35,000 for criminal injuries, and potential decrees for £40,000. That was £75,000. The year had now gone to the extent of six months and four days, and the £75,000 came immediately out of £212,000. They were dealing in this case with liars, rogues, and murderers. Let them look at the latest emanation from the Lords Justices, who prevented a murder, committed within a stone's throw of the City Hall, from being investigated by their own official. The terms given in this transaction were terms which would be recognised and accepted in any Republican court.

Dr. McWalter—You are recognising the Local Government Board.

The Lord Mayor called for order.

Alderman Cosgrave—The doctor is in order.

Lord Mayor—With great respect, I do not agree. He is not in order.

Alderman Cosgrave—Well, then, I will say that the doctor is in his usual order. The Alderman added that in the opinion, not only of the Corporation, but of the people who were lending the money, the action of the Corporation was open and above board. The people who had taken the taxes by force and other means from the people of Ireland, and had not paid their debts, were those who were earning the reprobation of every honest man in the community.

The motion was then passed unanimously.

CORPORATION TENANTS' RENT.

Mr. P. T. Daly raised a question of privilege, pointing out that at the last meeting of the Council a letter was submitted from the Housing Committee with regard to a proposed increase in the rents of the Corporation tenants. According to the Standing Orders, as the rents were fixed on a report to the Council, it could only be amended or revised after the receipt of a report from the constituted authority which had been circulated amongst the members. The letter stated that the Treasurer was asked to report upon a proposal for increasing the rents on the basis of a decree promulgated by Dáil Eireann. The British Parliament had decided that there was to be a certain increase in rents for certain responsibilities. He understood that Dáil Eireann had decided that they would permit an increase of 15 per cent. on rents outside increases for taxation. He took strong exception to this matter being rushed through the Council by a letter coming from the Committee, even based upon the contention of Dáil Eireann, with which he did not agree. He did not agree that rack-renting landlords were entitled to 15 per cent. increase on rents they formerly collected. In all the efforts towards economy it was curious that it was the working classes who should be hit.

The Lord Mayor agreed that the matter should have come before the Council in the form of a report.

The Council adjourned until next Tuesday week, at 3 p.m.

EDUCATION AND COMMERCE

ADDRESS BY MR. CLAMPETT.

At a meeting of the Rotary Club, Dublin, which was held in Kidd's Buffet yesterday, Mr. G. J. T. Clampett, Principal of Rathmines Municipal Technical Institute and School of Commerce, delivered an address on the subject of "Education and Commerce."

Dr. E. M. Fannin, President, who presided, introduced Mr. Arthur S. Fitzgerald, a member of the Rotary Club, Windsor, Canada.

Mr. Fitzgerald, in a brief speech, said that he trusted that before long they would see the end of the present troubles in this country, and that Ireland would settle down. It seemed to him that Rotarians had a duty not only in national affairs, but also in international affairs, to promote by an interchange of courtesies good feeling and good fellowship among all people throughout the world, and to bring about the general welfare and peace of the world. (Applause.)

Mr. Clampett, in the course of his address, said that he had felt for some time that there existed between employers in the city and employés a gulf which they might be able to bridge by arousing a keen interest in the various technical schools in the city. He was sorry to say that in the minds of a great many people the term "commercial education" was a thing altogether divorced from culture, and if teachers approached the subject with such a notion he would despair; but he was not only convinced, but knew, that commercial education was taught in such a manner as gave a sound knowledge of, and aroused interest in, literature, history, and other subjects. If a teacher of elementary book-keeping approached his subject in a proper manner, he would explain to his pupils how the ancient Egyptians kept their records, how the scribe received his education, and how the merchants of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries carried on their activities. That type of teaching could be disseminated throughout the whole of their elementary work, and the elementary student, having been taught the value of a comparative method, learned how to approach advanced subjects with a mind properly balanced, and could see things in their true perspective. If elementary education were approached like that it would give a wider outlook on life and improve the general culture of the student. It was a mistake to think that commercial education was incapable of giving a wide general knowledge, which some people thought belonged solely to the student of the classics. The same thing applied to advanced subjects.

WIDENING OF COMMERCIAL EDUCATION.

Commercial education could be allied with general culture. With the study of economics they studied the methods of every people and the methods of their competitors, and if they taught economics in a way of [illegible] the other fellow's mind and understanding the methods of their competitors they aroused very general interest. There existed a necessity for the widening of their commercial education, and that necessity could be looked at both from the personal and the national points of view. There was no doubt that the young business man was entering life under vastly improved conditions, and if he was to hold his own under these conditions it was absolutely necessary that he should be commercially educated. With regard to the national need of commercial education, they knew that present conditions demanded the very highest type of intellect and training, and in order to get that training the underlying theories must be studied, and the only place in which they could study was the Faculty of Commerce or one of the advanced schools of commerce. The importance of attending schools of commerce was, perhaps, best exemplified by the present threatened coal strike or the system of restricted output which was adopted by the miners last year. If those people had known that their policy was going to react on their own heads, or, in other words, if they had had the elements of economic theory properly placed before them, they would not have been so eager to adopt it. That brought home to one very forcibly the necessity for widening as far as possible the facilities for giving instruction to the workers. If they believed that commercial education was a desirable and necessary thing, the question arose how were they to provide it? At present they had their voluntary system, their Faculty of Commerce in the National University, and their technical schools. Naturally only a very limited number could attend the Faculty of Commerce. In England they had revolutionised the system of education by the Education Act of 1918.

AMBITIOUS ENGLISH SCHEME.

There young people between 14 and 18 years old were compelled to attend day continuation classes two half-days each week, and in London the Council expected to open on the 1st January, 1921, with 16,000 students, and a further 15,000 would be added every three months from the date of opening for a period of two years, until a steady maximum of 120,000 students was attained. At the end of the year 1930, it was estimated, a steady maximum of 240,000 students would attend day continuation classes. Similar schemes were being evolved in Manchester, Birmingham, and all the large industrial centres in England, and proportionately adequate schemes for places of lesser importance. If they could picture what the result of that educational system was possibly going to be in a quarter of a century, they could imagine a big thing. There was no doubt that, if their workers were going to get a system like that, it would lift them 150 per cent. above the level of any country that had not adopted it, and it would make a tremendous difference in their commercial life. What could they in Ireland do? He thought they could do a great deal, and he appealed to employers to encourage—he was almost going to say compel—their young workers to attend classes in commerce or technical processes up to a certain age. They should make it a condition of employment that employés should attend those classes, and he firmly believed that, if employers adopted such a method, it would be a benefit, not only to the employés, but to themselves. Until they could get such a scheme as existed in England, they must look to voluntary co-operation of employers to encourage young employés to attend the evening classes, and voluntary effort might in time make compulsion easy. (Applause.)

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Clampett for his address.

THE JEWS IN PALESTINE.

Mr. R. J. Kelly, K.C., has received the following letter from Mr. Gladstone, the former Military Governor of Palestine:—

DEAR SIR,—Your name has been given me by the editor of the Universe as a man of influence in Catholic circles.

His Eminence the Patriarch of Jerusalem has asked me to see whether the matter contained in his latest encyclical, particularly the latter portion, would interest Irish Catholics. I accordingly send you a copy.

Speaking as one who has been in touch with the Palestinian in Jerusalem and Bethlehem, in which latter place I was Deputy Military Governor for nearly two years, I feel very strongly that the people at home do not realise how completely the policy of the Government with regard to Palestine has run counter to the desires of the people of Palestine.

From the date of the occupation of Jerusalem onwards the Administration has earned and kept the approval of nearly all the inhabitants. Since, however, the San Remo Conference, with its declaration in favour of the Jewish National Home in Palestine and subsequent appointment of a Jew as the first High Commissioner, the feeling of the people, both Moslem and Christian, has turned completely round, and if to-day they were offered the choice of remaining under the present Administration pledged to fulfil the National Home policy, or of returning to the rule of the Turk, the choice would unanimously go to the Turk. The absence of any clear official definition as to the meaning of the National Home is a source of anxiety, as it is feared and believed that the policy envisages the erection of a National State for the Jews to rise in subsequent years to the detriment of the present inhabitants.—Yours faithfully,

R. P. GLADSTONE.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Mr. John C. Lathrop delivered a lecture in the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, last night on the subject of "Christian Science: Its Naturalness, Simplicity, and Practicability."

Mrs. R. Martin, who presided, introduced the lecturer, and said that people were living in what had been called the scientific age, when people must have actual proofs of statements before admitting them to be true. The Christian Science movement, established in 1866 by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, had grown remarkably and continuously, until now there was hardly a place in the civilised world where it was not known and practised. This was because Christian Science proved its faith entirely by its works.

Mr. Lathrop, in the course of his address, said that, looked at materially, there always would be something unsolved in regard to vitality and health, but it was found that Christian Science disentangled those forces, set them free from their material complications, and revealed health and vitality to be spiritual qualities or forces. Christian Science taught that there was only one real mind or Divine principle which was all life, intelligence, and substance; there it must include all true nature, vitality, and health. The Christian Science prayer worked just in so far as one understood and applied the Divine principle and rules of Christian Science to discordant mortal beliefs. Christian Science showed how each individual could, and must for himself, overcome subtle evil beliefs. It was practical, and was a Divine law or system of perfect rules to be proved, and, while the absolute was always possible, no one must think that one was expected to attain it in any way other than by steps and stages.

Only the HOOVER lifts the carpet like this and beats it

The perennial beauty of a valuable carpet is the reward of frequent and thorough cleaning. Such cleaning is easy to perform with The Hoover because it beats—as it sweeps—as it suction cleans.

All injurious embedded grit is fluttered out by gentle beating. All stubborn fluff is detached by swift sweeping. All loose dirt is withdrawn by strong suction.

Only The Hoover combines these three essential operations. If you have electric light you can use The Hoover. Attaches to wall-plug or lamp-socket, and made for every standard voltage from 32 to 250.

Write to-day for illustrated booklet describing the wonderfully easy Hoover way of keeping homes clean.

Eczema

Suffered Three Years with Intensely Irritating Eruptions. Soon Completely Cured by Germolene.

Germolene marks a New Era in Skin and Wound Treatment.

Mr. W. B Walton

Mr. WM. B. WALTON, 87, School Street, Darfield, near Barnsley, Yorks., says:—"About three years ago an irritation came on my legs, and soon a rash appeared. It itched intensely, and scratching made it raw and red. Then the same thing came on my hands, a scratchy, peace-destroying eruption that nothing would relieve. I tried one ointment after another, but all in vain. I was told it was eczema in a very severe form. I had to keep the surface constantly bandaged, for it was raw and weeping, and the itching was real torment. I had suffered for three years when I got a tin of Germolene, and before that tin was finished there was immense improvement. Germolene soothed just as soon as applied, and gradually new healthy skin formed. Soon I was cured completely, and now my skin is as clear and natural as ever. I think it is wonderful, for I only used Germolene for something less than a month altogether."

Soothes at a Touch.

PELMANISE THIS.

This is an excellent time to begin the study of Pelmanism. The work required (at less than an hour a day at home in your spare time, for about three months) is not beyond your ability, but it enables you to make the most of yourself. You may know your limitations. Do you know your possibilities? Pelmanism leads you to realise them. The only kind of person Pelmanism cannot help is the person who is not interested in his (or her) own possibilities. Nothing can help such a person. The first step is to get particulars of Pelmanism. This costs nothing. All inquirers at Pelman House have the system fully explained to them, and are shown how it applies to their own needs, without any question of their enrolment being raised. If you cannot call, send a postcard for particulars to the Manager, No. 2 Pelman House, 51b Dawson street, Dublin.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1920.

It is announced from Tokio that the Japan-American Society is sending two of its members to America with a view to securing a better understanding of the Japanese case in regard to California, and to allaying American feeling against Japan.—(P. 5.)

President Wilson has addressed an appeal to the people of the United States to endorse the League of Nations in the coming elections.—(P. 5.)

The miners' ballot paper was issued yesterday. In connection with it the Executive makes no recommendation.—(P. 5.)

Owing to a dispute in the building trade in Dublin several thousand men were idle yesterday.—(P. 4.)

Many ships are held up in Dublin port owing to a strike of firemen.—(P. 4.)

Policemen and soldiers dispersed a Sinn Fein Court at Navan yesterday and seized all documents, including the solicitors' briefs.—(P. 5.)

While a Sinn Fein arbitration court was sitting in Wexford yesterday the police and soldiers entered and arrested the Mayor and two others who, it is said, were on the bench.—(P. 5.)

Several houses were destroyed in the Frenchpark district of County Roscommon on the night following the attack on the local police barrack.—(P. 5.)

John O'Hanlon, a farmer's son, was shot dead near his house at Turloughmore, Co. Sligo, on Sunday night. His friends allege that the shots were fired by some of an armed party of men who visited the house.—(P. 5.)

One of a party of sixty men who were preparing an ambush in the Co. Cork yesterday was shot dead by soldiers, and the others fled, leaving behind arms, ammunition, and steel helmets.—(P. 5.)

The four men charged with the murder of William McDowell and the robbery of £1,308 at Knocknagore on September 3rd were again remanded in custody at Banbridge yesterday.—(P. 5.)

Complaints against the dislocation of the railway traffic were made yesterday at the meeting of the Limerick Trades and Labour Council and at the Athlone Town Council.—(P. 4.)

The Tyrone election petition, in which a defeated Unionist candidate seeks to upset the election of three of the successful candidates at the last County Council election for Tyrone, was opened yesterday in the Courthouse at Omagh.—(P. 6.)

In consequence of two armed policemen boarding a Lough Swilly railway train at Londonderry yesterday evening, the railway officials refused to start. Two trains were held up.—(P. 4.)

In London yesterday the Stock Markets had a firm session. There were wide fluctuations in Esperanzas. Money much easier at 5 down to 4½ per cent. Discount rates inclined to weakness. In Dublin prices were generally higher. Great Northern Railway Ordinary was exceptionally weak.—(P. 7.)

Dublin's Outlook.

The Dublin Corporation's decision to "carry on" and at the same time to defy the authority of the Irish Government is wholly illogical, and the chief sufferers will be the citizens of Dublin whose interests it is pledged to safeguard. In selling stock to the banks the Council tacitly accepts British law, but its repudiation of that law in other matters threatens the city with every variety of loss and hardship. As a result of the withdrawal of Government grants, we are confronted, on the eve of winter, with a drastic curtailment of essential public services. The streets have been plunged into Stygian darkness at a time when the discomforts of darkness are increased by the necessary operation of the "Curfew" Order. The inconvenience is felt particularly by late workers in newspaper offices and by early workers in the bakery trade and other industries. All the newspaper "chapels" have passed resolutions asking the Corporation to light its electric lamps between 3.30 a.m. and daylight, but no steps have been taken to grant even this trifling amenity to a respectable and hard-working body of citizens. This is, of course, only a small result of the present abnormal situation. Far more serious is the danger to the public health and security from the impending reduction of sanitary services, the closing of the tuberculosis hospitals, and the discharge of inmates from the Richmond Lunatic Asylum. A deputation from the Nurses' Union put the case for the hospitals strongly before the City Council yesterday. There is no real excuse for the curtailment of any civic service. Even if such excuse existed, the urgent needs of the most helpless class of the community ought to be honoured at any cost. We believe that the Corporation's members desire the welfare of Dublin and are ready to make personal sacrifices to that end. We invite them, however, to consider two questions—whether injury to Dublin really will serve their political purpose, and whether they have any right to promote any political purpose by injury to Dublin. Their defiance of the Local Government Board is an effective gesture only in the theatrical sense. It does not strengthen the Republican cause; it does not embarrass the British Government. It is like the blowing of trumpets round the walls of a new Jericho in the impossible hope that a unique miracle will repeat itself. On the other hand, the reduction of essential services penalises all classes of the citizens, and most of all, perhaps, those who are in fullest sympathy with the Corporation's political views. It means discomfort, the danger of disease, and unemployment. Moreover, these misfortunes threaten the city at a time which could not have been chosen more unhappily. Ireland is not likely to escape the "slump" in trade which has led already to the dismissal of many workers in Great Britain. Winter always brings distress and unemployment to Dublin, and in this coming winter the ordeal may be more than commonly severe. Even now a strike in the Dublin building trade is announced which, if moderate counsels do not prevail, may throw some nine or ten thousand men out of work. The bricklayers and labourers want more wages. The employers urge that the trade's outlook is gloomy, that the banks hesitate to make advances, and that local bodies have no money for building schemes. In these circumstances we hope that the men will take no false or rash step. We hope, too, and are entitled to ask, that the Dublin Corporation will do nothing to aggravate a very grave situation. For the sake of the city and the citizens it ought to adjust its differences with the Local Government Board without further delay.

This is a critical moment not only in the political, but in the social and economic, life of Dublin. It demands common-sense and self-restraint from the citizens of all parties and classes. At such a moment the strike which has been declared by the crews of the British and Irish Steam Packet Company's ships is peculiarly deplorable. Its cause seems to be indefensible and its results, if it is prolonged, must be disastrous to the trade of Dublin and of a large area of Ireland. Two months ago the Seamen's and Firemen's Union—a United Kingdom organisation—demanded an advance of 30s. weekly for the crews of coasting steamers. The claim was submitted to the National Maritime Board, on which employers and men are equally represented. The ship-owners offered a court of inquiry, and last week the Board decided to postpone the whole matter for two months. The chairman of this Board is Mr. Havelock Wilson, General President of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union. Alone, as it appears, among the seamen of the United Kingdom, the British and Irish Company's men have refused to accept this ruling, and have gone on strike for an immediate advance of 20s. weekly. They are acting against the wish and instruction of their union, and, presumably, will not have its support in the fight which they have forced upon the Company. Eleven of the Company's ships are now idle; one of them was stopped when she was about to sail from the North Wall with four hundred cattle and a cargo of general produce. If the strike continues, the port of Dublin will be sealed against all goods and live-stock traffic with English markets, for since the closing down of this traffic on the London North-Western Company's service, the British and Irish Company has been virtually the sole link between Dublin and the cross-Channel harbours. This strike can bring nothing but misery and disaster to its authors and to Ireland. We hope that immediate steps will be taken to end it, and that all possible influences, civic and industrial, will be employed to bring the men back into line with the policy of their own union. Here is a case where the best interests of Dublin and the best interests of disciplined trade unionism are equally involved.

General Wrangel's Campaign.

During the last two months very little notice has been taken of General Wrangel's operations in South Russia, but now they are beginning to attract attention. Since his army emerged from the Crimea it has had a series of successes, and the Moscow Government's contempt has turned to fear. The capture of Alexandrovsk has been the White general's most notable stroke, and it has given him an enormous advantage. From the town the broad Dnieper flows in a south-westerly direction to Kherson, where it falls into the Black Sea. In this part of its course the river runs parallel to the shore of the Sea of Azov, from which it is separated by a level plain about eighty miles broad. Hitherto General Wrangel's activities have been confined to this area, but now he is advancing beyond it. This will mean a considerable lengthening of his fighting line, and it may be taken for granted that a commander of his experience and temperament would not embark upon such an adventure if his troops were not superior to their opponents both in numbers and in moral. A telegram received last night says that Berdiansk has fallen into his hands, and this indicates that the objective on the right flank is the important port of Rostov. Possession of Rostov would give the White Army command of the only main railway line between Moscow and the Caucasus. On the right the Bolshevist troops are reported to be retreating hastily, and General Wrangel's obvious aim is to reach the city of Ekaterinoslav, which is the key to the communications between the Ukraine and the Don Province. Its capture would sever the forces on the right bank of the Dnieper from the army covering the Don. A firm hold on Ekaterinoslav and the territory in the loop of the river to the south of the city would bring the whole of the Ukraine into General Wrangel's sphere of influence. The Bolshevists' hold on the Ukraine never has been secure. The small village republics do not recognise any authority except their own free will, and, consisting mainly of peasant landowners, they have very little sympathy for the Bolshevist régime. The country is virtually under the sway of wandering bands whose leaders were hostile to General Denikin's policy. Their opposition was one of the factors which led to his collapse. These roving bands, however, are not enthusiastic supporters of the Red Army, and General Wrangel has managed to establish friendly relations with some of them. With their aid there is a good prospect that he may obtain a decisive success at Ekaterinoslav, and thereby force the Bolshevists to evacuate that part of the Ukraine which lies between the southern reaches of the Bug and the Dnieper. There is a prospect also that the Poles, who, now that their star is in the ascendant, are pressing their offensive so vigorously, may reach the Upper Dnieper and advance along the river towards Kieff. In that event the rising in the Ukraine would gain a greater significance, for it would represent a possible connecting link between General Wrangel and the Poles. In view of the misfortunes that have overtaken their armies both north and south it is not difficult to understand the Bolshevists' ardent desire to make peace at Riga. The patience and endurance of their unhappy dupes are nearly exhausted, and their crazy régime is threatened with collapse.

Famine in China.

The grim spectre of starvation faces some thirty million people in China. Reports from Peking state that in the province of Honan and the adjacent districts this year's crops have been an utter failure, and that already many men, women, and children have died from lack of food. The people of Honan lead a hand-to-mouth existence. They depend entirely upon the current crops, and, when a crop fails, they are plunged immediately into want and privation. None of them can afford to purchase food from other areas. Relief work has begun, but it is attended by many difficulties. In many parts of the province railways do not exist and the waterways cannot cope with a sudden rush of heavy traffic. The Bishop of Honan, who is in London just now, says that the telegrams which have reached him indicate that the famine will be the most dreadful that ever has occurred in the East. The winter months will be a period of unspeakable misery for the starving people. Typhus and other diseases which follow in the wake of a famine are bound to make their appearance, and "then hundreds of thousands of enfeebled refugees will be snuffed out of existence." The main burden of administering relief will fall upon the missionaries of the Christian Churches—their ranks include many Irish men and women—and they will be exposed to great risks. To help them it is proposed to open a fund in England.

Prohibition Eluded.

Although prohibition has been in force in the United States for over a year, the country is by no means "dry." It is expected that this year's consumption of liquor will be almost as high as last year's. The Customs authorities cannot discover the channels through which liquor is imported. They discount the picturesque stories which have been told about smuggling, and say that they are merely journalistic "stunts." The bonded warehouses are looked upon with suspicion, but a series of raids has failed to reveal any trustworthy evidence upon which a prosecution could be based. The suspicion, however, seems to be well-founded, and, sooner or later, the means by which the authorities have been deceived will be discovered. In nearly every hotel and night club in the United States a person who "knows the ropes" can get a drink if he wants it, and it is improbable that the supplies of these establishments can be replenished from any source except the bonded warehouses. The Philadelphia Public Ledger professes to have found the key to the authorities' problem. Spirits can be released from bond for sale to manufacturers and chemists, and it is asserted that a gang of liquor dealers has established a number of bogus factories and chemists' shops in order to get the necessary permits.

THE CABINET AND IRELAND

FULL AGREEMENT WITH THE IRISH EXECUTIVE.

The Press Association understands that no further meeting between the members of the Government and Sir Nevil Macready is in contemplation for the present. After the general talk at 10 Downing street, at which it was made clear that the Government was in full accord with the policy of the Irish Executive, it was arranged that the Premier should discuss details with Sir Hamar Greenwood, who for this purpose spent the week-end with his chief in the country. Mr. Lloyd George was not in London yesterday, and no early meeting of Ministers is in prospect.

SIR DONALD MACLEAN AND IRELAND.

Sir Donald Maclean, addressing his constituents at Bonnyrigg, Midlothian, last night, referred with gratification to the hopes of a settlement in the coal industry. Fortunately, a datum line had been found in that difficulty. Was it not possible to find a datum line in the Irish tragedy? Lord Grey's suggestion for Ireland was the only possible solution of the problem. The fundamental proposal was that the Irish themselves should be responsible for the changes, except the control of foreign policy and the Army and Navy.

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.

MONDAY.

The Lady Eva Wyndham Quin and Miss Wyndham Quin and Mr. Mark and the Lady Rachel Sturgis had the honour of being invited to dine with His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge this evening.

THE PRIME MINISTER.

The Prime Minister leaves London on Thursday to fulfil several engagements in North Wales. He will go first to Colwyn Bay, and will there be the guest of Lord Colwyn. On Friday he delivers an important speech at Llandudno, and on Saturday he goes to Carnarvon, where he will receive an address of welcome from the County Council. On the afternoon of the same day the Freedom of Bangor will be bestowed upon him, and he will return to London that evening or the following day.

SIR ERNEST CLARKE IN LONDONDERRY.

It transpired yesterday that Sir Ernest Clarke, recently appointed Assistant Under-Secretary at Belfast, visited Londonderry on Saturday, and met the Protestant and Roman Catholic Bishops, the Mayor, and the Town Clerk.

COLONEL PRICE, D.S.O.

The Belfast News-Letter states that Colonel I. H. Price, D.S.O., has been appointed an Assistant Inspector-General of the Royal Irish Constabulary, and will be succeeded in County Fermanagh by County Inspector F. R. Tyrrell.

LORD FISHER'S WILL.

The estate of the late Admiral of the Fleet Lord Fisher of Kilverstone has been sworn at £23,767. The will is written in the testator's own hand on a sheet of notepaper, and was made a few days after the death of the late Lady Fisher, in accordance with whose wishes the estate is divided amongst their children. The executors are the present Lord Fisher and Mr. Beresford B. Heaton, of 8 New Lincoln's Inn.

RECRUITING FOR THE ROYAL IRISH CONSTABULARY.

The Press Association is requested by the authorities at Great Scotland Yard to deny the report that recruiting for the Royal Irish Constabulary has been abandoned. On the contrary they state that 8,000 men have been recruited during the past month, and recruiting is still going on.

THE "OFFICERS' FRIEND" AT CORK.

Lieutenant-Colonel Holmes-Wilson, "Officers' Friend," Ministry of Pensions, Ireland, South Region, will be present at Moore's Hotel, Cork, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday, 7th October, for the purpose of interviewing naval and military officers, ex-officers, nurses, widows, or the dependents of deceased officers, with a view to assisting them in getting their claims to pensions and gratuities settled. Applicants in the possession of papers relating to their case should produce them.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

I notice that in commenting on Lord Morley's letter the Westminster Gazette says that he "has had a wider and larger experience of Irish government than any man living." This is not even technically accurate, for Sir William Hart Dyke, who was Chief Secretary in 1885, the year before Lord Morley first took office, still survives, and both Mr. Arthur Balfour and his brother, to say nothing of Mr. Birrell, were at the Irish Office longer than Lord Morley, whose two terms there did not amount to three and a half years. My own impression is that his interest in Ireland was always more sentimental than scientific, and it is not altered by his latest statement.

It is rather surprising that Downing street has not already issued an official contradiction of the charge made against the Prime Minister in the current issue of the New Statesman. In an article headed "The Terror in Ireland," it says:—"We understand on authority which we find it impossible to doubt that the policy of meeting outrage by outrage, of exacting an eye for an eye, or, better still, two eyes for an eye, was deliberately considered, and deliberately decided upon, in Downing street some four months ago." Then after a suggestion that the rest of the Cabinet was kept in the dark about the new departure, the article proceeds:—"That Sir Edward Carson is behind all this, and very immediately behind it, goes without saying. But all the information which has reached us reinforces the conclusion that the main responsibility for the new Irish terror rests, not only formally and constitutionally, but actually and in the most direct sense, upon the Prime Minister."

No graver accusation was ever levelled against a First Minister of the Crown by a responsible journal. It ought to be contradicted at once or it will do an infinity of mischief.

I mentioned last week that the Government intended to press forward with the Government of Ireland Bill as soon as the autumn sittings begin, and it is now said that not a moment will be lost in getting the Bill through both Houses. There is reason to believe that there will be little opposition in either House.

Everywhere in London there is an outcry against the heavy local rates, and the outcry is not confined to London alone. The unfortunate thing is that the high-water mark has not yet been reached, and it is quite possible that in many districts before very long the advance may be 50 per cent. Much of the expenditure responsible for the heavy increases is due to causes beyond the control of the local authorities, and directly due to the Government departments. The new Education Act, when it comes fully into operation, is going to cost a huge sum of money. All the children between 14 and 16 cannot be retained at school without proper accommodation and a further supply of teachers, and many other requisites needed by the fact that these children will be older and more advanced.

The demands of the public health departments are also becoming very onerous, and likely to become more so. Wages of employés of local authorities have increased by leaps and bounds until even the dustman, once regarded as a pariah, now gets four pounds a week, and still grumbles. Road-sweepers are getting fanciful sums per week just to sweep up the streets, and all the time the ratepayer has to look on and pay. The mistake of the ratepayer seems to be that he will elect the wrong kind of person to deal with his public accounts. When he was served by men of leisure, who entered into local life with a desire of being of service to the community, a more careful eye was kept upon expenditure. The only careful eye now seems to be kept upon the receipts.

There is a sort of poetical justice in the decision of the Government of India to prohibit the entry of the Daily Herald into India, for this so-called Labour journal was in its early days largely financed by the Indian revolutionaries. Unless it frees itself from its Bolshevist and other sinister associations, the prospect of its obtaining the £300,000 for which it is appealing to the trade unions is not very bright.

A really good Labour organ is badly wanted. It is ridiculous to say, as the Herald people do in their appeal, that "the capitalist Press is subsidised year in and year out to an enormous extent." But there is no doubt that most of the existing papers, being commercial undertakings, are naturally inclined to take the capitalist view, and do not devote much of their space to Labour affairs except during industrial conflicts, though, to be sure, that means most of the time nowadays.

The weekly papers, which profess to represent the Labour standpoint, are mostly "highbrow" organs, whose writing is above the heads of ordinary working men, however much it may appeal to the long-haired Socialist type. What is wanted is a sane paper, written in plain Saxon English, and not in the Latinised jargon which the pundits of Socialism affect, dealing with sport of all kinds as well as politics; and, while keen to see that the working-man is not exploited either by his employers or the bureaucracy, recognising that capital has its necessary place in the organism of the modern State.

Dr. Haden Guest continues in The Times to-day his impressions of the Bolshevist régime in Russia. Highly suggestive is his description of the workers' lot as derived from his experiences when on tour with M. Sverdloff, the Soviet's Minister of Transport. "The discipline on the railways and river transport is," he says, "severe. Alcohol is, of course, prohibited throughout Russia. If, however, a railway worker does get some illicitly and gets drunk, then, said Sverdloff, he is shot without mercy."

The boys are to vote in the new ballot to be taken of the miners, and it is regarded as likely that their votes will considerably reduce the total of votes that would otherwise be cast for acceptance of the Government's offer. That they will help to a majority against us is not expected for a moment, since it is thought that a great many of the miners will accept the advice of the leaders, and vote for acceptance of the terms. It may not be possible to secure an absolute majority against a strike, but there is no likelihood of the necessary two-thirds majority being obtained for such a course. Many of the leaders are firmly of opinion that there will be a clear majority against a strike.

Like other London clubs, the National Liberal is finding it impossible to pay its way on its existing subscriptions, and proposes to raise them. Not long ago the Constitutional took the bull by the horns, and raised town members' subscriptions by four guineas a year and country members by two. The proposal of the National Liberal Club Committee is less drastic, and only contemplates an increase of the town subscription from £6 6s. to £8 8s. But even that is meeting with opposition from many of the existing members, who urge that the necessary money should be obtained by re-imposing an entrance fee. But as that would not nearly meet the deficit, the Committee's proposal will probably be adopted.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE IN DUBLIN.

MANY VESSELS HELD UP.

A number of seamen and sailors employed by the British and Irish Steam Packet Company have ceased work to enforce their demands for a substantial increase in wages. The effect upon the trade of the Port of Dublin is likely to be very serious if the strike is prolonged for many days, as, since the suspension of the London and North-Western Railway Company's cargo service, the British and Irish Company has been conducting virtually the whole business of transport between Dublin and English ports. Additional steamers have been provided by the company to fulfil the requirements of traders generally, especially in view of the approaching Christmas season, and the large increase in the live stock and farm produce exports from Dublin.

The decision to strike was, it is stated, taken by the men independently of, and in direct opposition to, the advice of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union. Some weeks ago the union put forward claims for all-round increases in wages of 30s. a week for men on coastwise and weekly engagements and £5 a month for men employed on foreign-going vessels, and this demand was duly submitted to the National Maritime Board, which is composed of equal numbers of shipowners' and seamen's representatives. The matter was discussed, and at a meeting held on Wednesday last, under the presidency of Mr. Havelock Wilson, President of the Seamen's and Firemen's Union, the employers' representatives suggested that the whole question should be submitted to a "court of inquiry." The seamen's representatives agreed that the matter should be postponed for two months.

The crews of the British and Irish Steam Packet Company refused, however, to abide by this decision, and demanded an immediate increase of 20s. a week, at the same time handing in strike notices, to take immediate effect. The steamship Blackrock was unable to sail on Friday, although the officials of the union attended and explained to the men the correct position of affairs. The crew of the Lady Wimborne also tendered strike notices, but on being told that a stoppage of work was not authorised by the union, a majority were in favour of continuing, but they were dissuaded by men in favour of immediate and independent "direct action."

The seamen of the Lady Kildare, a new vessel, after being addressed by the union officials, agreed to sail the vessel on Saturday morning as usual, but they were eventually induced by the extremist section to leave the ship. As, however, the cargo was on board, and included 400 head of cattle and much perishable merchandise, and the firemen, who belonged to Liverpool, were willing to work, steps were taken to get together a temporary crew, but the attitude of the strikers was such that, to avoid disorder, the sailing was cancelled.

The crews of eight other incoming vessels belonging to the company have now sent in strike notices. The Seamen's and Firemen's Union has telegraphed from the London headquarters appealing to the men loyally to abide by the instructions issued by their accredited representatives, and pointing out that unauthorised and precipitate action can only have the effect of prejudicing the claim for a national settlement of the wages question.

DUBLIN BUILDING TRADE DISPUTE.

THOUSANDS OF MEN OUT.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the Lord Mayor of Dublin (Alderman L. O'Neill) to induce the employés engaged in the Dublin building trade to suspend the strike notices which were served on their behalf on the employers, several thousands of workers did not continue work yesterday, and, as a consequence, building operations are at a standstill. Bricklayers, stone cutters, plasterers, marble polishers, and labourers are concerned in the strike, but carpenters, electricians, painters, plumbers, and joiners are not affected at present. The men who have ceased to work demanded an increase of 4½d. an hour on the existing rate of 2s. 1½d. an hour, and on Friday last both the employers' case and that of the workers was discussed at a conference, which was held in the Mansion House, but no agreement was reached. The Lord Mayor suggested that the conference should be adjourned for two weeks, and that the strike notices should be suspended. At a meeting of the workers on Sunday that suggestion, and matters connected with the dispute, were discussed, and by a majority it was decided to strike.

Unfortunately, if the strike be not settled at an early date—and the prospect yesterday was not hopeful—workers who are not now connected with the dispute are likely to be affected automatically, and the rebuilding of premises which were destroyed in the year 1916 will be again considerably delayed.

It is feared that if the strike should continue for a lengthened period, something approximating 10,000 men will be out of employment in the trade.

The employers, it is understood, consider that the men are adequately paid, comparing the wages given in other places, and that their present contracts would not adequately pay them if they acceded to the demands of the workers. The Employers' Association held a private meeting yesterday, but no communication was issued for publication.

The strikers say that the employers agreed in April last to review the wages should there be a further increase in the cost of living, and that the question of increased wages should be dealt with in September. This, according to the workers, had not been done, and, therefore, they struck work. On the other hand, this alleged agreement is disputed.

INADEQUATE RAILWAY FACILITIES.

LIMERICK TRADERS' COMPLAINT.

The continued dislocation of railway traffic to and from Limerick is seriously affecting the Limerick bacon industry, and delegates from the Buyers' Association waited on the Limerick Trades and Labour Council with reference to the matter, and also on the question of the increased cost of buyers' tickets to fairs.

After a discussion, the Trades and Labour Council adopted a resolution of protest against the present treatment of Southern Irish pig dealers by the Great Southern and Western and Midland Great Western Railway Companies in the matter. The continuance of such treatment would completely crush out the bacon and pig-rearing industries South and West of Ireland, and leave farmers at the mercy of the Northern dealers and cross-Channel shippers, and destroy a very fruitful source of Irish railway income.

The Limerick Chamber of Commerce yesterday—Mr. J. P. Goodbody presiding—adopted a resolution with regard to the situation, and to arrange for an All-Ireland Chambers of Commerce meeting in Dublin, to make representations to the Ministry of Transport on the subject.

THE ATHLONE-MAYO SERVICE.

At a specially arranged meeting of the Athlone Town Council yesterday, Mr. S. McCrann proposed a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, asking the directors of the Midland Great Western Railway to restore the train services between Athlone and Mayo. The want of the train services, the resolution pointed out, was disastrous to the commercial and farming interests of the people of Roscommon and Mayo, who form a large part of the public from whom the shareholders of the Midland Great Western Railway derive their profits. The resolution further pointed out that the district served by the Mayo branch line is one of the poorest in the country, and it must be obvious to the directors that if the present condition of affairs continues it will have a disastrous effect upon the future welfare of the district, and consequently on the future of the railway company. The resolution added—"There is absolutely no reason for the stoppage of the trains on this branch that could not be advanced against the running of the trains in any part of Ireland."

The resolution was supported by Councillors Hughes and Henry, and directed to be forwarded to the chairman and directors of the Midland Railway Company.

ARMED POLICE ON LONDONDERRY TRAIN.

TWO TRAINS HELD UP.

Yesterday evening two armed police recruits from the Depôt, on the way to Buncrana, boarded the five o'clock train from Londonderry to Carndonagh, at Londonderry. The driver, guard, and brakesman refused to work the train while the police remained in the carriage. The latter declined to alight, with the result that the train, which was packed with passengers, was held up. When the seven o'clock train from Londonderry to Buncrana was ready to start, with a large number of passengers, who had transferred from the five o'clock train, one of the armed constables took a seat in it. The same men refused to work it, with the result that both trains had to be cancelled. The railwaymen were suspended. The two policemen returned to Victoria Police Barracks, Londonderry, with other police who were on the platform.

Owing to these and other suspensions, the train service is being curtailed, and the railway is perilously near closing down.

The King will hold a Council on Wednesday, 13th inst.

It is stated in Brussels that M. Delacroix, the Premier, will have an interview with Mr. Lloyd George on Monday next.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

MR. ASQUITH ON IRELAND.

The Times to-day publishes a long letter from Mr. Asquith on the Irish question. There are, it seems to me, writes the right hon. gentleman, two conditions which govern and limit any conceivable solution. The first is that the Irish people should be made to believe that, so far as Great Britain is concerned, what is offered comes from an honest, and also from a responsible, source. The second is that, after making all necessary allowance for the provisional abstention not of an artificial, but of a genuine local minority, it should meet and satisfy Irish aspirations. Nothing, I am certain, can now fulfil the second of these conditions but the bestowal upon Ireland of the status of an autonomous Dominion in the fullest and widest sense. What does that mean? None of our Dominions claims the right to a separate foreign policy of its own. On the other hand, they all show an increasing and perfectly legitimate desire for fuller confidence and freer consultation in the whole domain of our external relations, and in particular for a voice in the making and revision of treaties. The Dominion of Ireland should in these matters be on a level footing with the rest. In regard to naval and military forces, I do not share the apprehensions of those who think it necessary to impose on an Irish Dominion limitations and fetters which are not to be found elsewhere in our self-governing Empire. No Irish Government would be so insane as to mortgage its scanty margin of resources for such a fruitless and costly enterprise as the creation of an Irish Navy. Nor is it readily conceivable that it would seek to deny—what it could never effectively prevent—the free access to Irish ports and harbours of the vessels of the Imperial Navy. Further, no grant of autonomy could be regarded as complete which did not include the right to raise and maintain for the purpose of local defence an adequate military force. Fiscal independence is a necessary incident of Dominion status. I cannot think that it is worth while, in view of the colossal figures of our national finance, to haggle over the "nicely calculated less or more" of Irish indebtedness.

IRELAND TO-DAY.

A Correspondent, writing in The Times to-day, states:—At its September meeting the Executive Committee of the Society of Friends had before it the disturbed condition of Ireland. After serious consideration it was decided to send a deputation to visit the country to gather facts and impressions, and report to a subsequent meeting as to the possibility of relief, reconstruction, and reconciliation. The deputation numbered three, of whom the writer was one. It may be fairly claimed that they went with open minds, anxious to receive light from whatever quarter it might shine. It is thought that some account of what was seen and what impressions were received may be of general interest. The chief centres visited were Dublin, Belfast, Limerick, Cork, visits being also paid to other places in the neighbourhood. Their interviews were with men of every shade of opinion. After describing what was seen in the various districts, the writer proceeds: Now for a few impressions. The old irreconcilable Unionism, except in Ulster, is dead as a policy. The old Constitutional Nationalist Party has gone also; one former Nationalist M.P. told me he doubted if he could find enough supporters to fill in his nomination papers. Everywhere men talk of a Republic, a liberal measure of Home Rule, or Dominion Home Rule. It is not that Unionists think Home Rule the better policy, but that they regard something of the kind as inevitable. A measure of the kind which would have been fought five years ago would now almost certainly be accepted by Unionists with thankfulness. The Parliamentary Nationalist policy was discredited, because it was found to lead only to disappointment, broken Government promises, bills withdrawn, Acts suspended. No one could trust the Government. In consequence, practically the whole of the Nationalist following has gone over to Sinn Fein. We gathered, however, that, while the extreme Sinn Feiners are apparently irreconcilable and will accept nothing short of an independent Irish Republic, there is a large mass of moderate opinion which would accept a well-conceived liberal measure of self-government. Several expressed the opinion that the bestowal of this would kill the agitation for independence. However this may be, I must repeat that deeds, not words, are needed. Government promises are simply disregarded.

THE MINERS' BALLOT PAPER.

The Labour Correspondent of The Times, writing to-day, says:—The miners' ballot paper, which was issued yesterday by Mr. Frank Hodges, the Secretary of the National Federation, asks for a vote either for or against the acceptance of the coal-owners' offer of increases of wages varying with the output of coal. It does not indicate whether the alternative to acceptance is the strike, the notices for which will expire within a few days of the taking of the ballot. There really ought to be no room for misapprehension on the point. The delegate meeting has chosen one out of several proposals that came before it to put to the test of a ballot, and the miners and the whole country are entitled to know whether an adverse poll would, without further parley, lead to the still threatened national strike. In other words, are the miners to vote upon the owners' proposals—(1) as considered wholly on their intrinsic merits, or (2) as the only means of averting the stoppage of the pits? As the paper is phrased the ballot can be taken in the sense first indicated, but the poll can be so related to the expiring notices as to give it the force of a final verdict on the question of a strike. There is another doubtful point. If this is a ballot for or against a strike, there must be a two-thirds majority to authorise a stoppage. A bare majority would secure the rejection of particular proposals dissociated from a strike alternative. What we ought to know without ambiguity is whether a strike ballot is or is not being taken.

A CONTRACT OF REPUDIATION.

The text of the draft agreement drawn up by the Inter-Department Committee for the Resumption of Trade between Great Britain and Russia is given in The Times to-day. In a leading article upon the subject, that journal remarks:—It confirms all that we have said about this singular document, and amply justifies the banks in the protest they made last week against its contents. In short, the proposed agreement is a contract of deliberate repudiation. It is said that the Inter-Departmental Committee, in making the draft, has had no direct relations with the Soviet delegation, but the contents are sufficient to show that, if the writing is that of Mr. Wise, the hand is that of Krassin. Connivance at the repudiation of a contract is not a British inspiration. The spirit in which all modern business is conducted is trust in the honourable fulfilment of a contract. Every member of the Stock Exchange, the Baltic, and Lloyd's knows that repudiation of a contract would mean instant expulsion and disgrace, and if any British Government were to take action contrary to that spirit, it would merit, and would not fail to receive, emphatic condemnation from every quarter where honest men meet and have dealings with each other. The Cabinet is reported to have postponed consideration of the draft agreement, apparently because the reports as to the disintegration of the Soviet forces grow steadily more persistent. We have all along regarded their dissolution as inevitable, sooner or later; but the public's sense of honour would be offended if the document we print to-day were rejected, not on the ground of principle, but because one of the parties to it was no more.

THE "RED TSAR'S" ETIQUETTE.

A doctor who has just escaped from Petrograd (says a Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph) gives some interesting details about Zinovieff, the Bolshevik dictator of the Northern Commune, whom he was called in to attend in his professional capacity. Some time ago the dictator had to be operated on for appendicitis. The best nursing home of the few remaining in Petrograd was cleared of all its patients and fitted up with all the luxuries to which Bolshevik Commissars only can aspire. Six specialists were ordered to attend upon the sick man, who was surrounded by an Imperial etiquette. Secretaries, staff officers, and a guard of honour thronged the ante-chamber. Two Hughes telegraphic machines were installed, connected by direct wire with Moscow and General Headquarters.

A score of police spies, attired in white hospital uniform, perambulated the corridors, carefully watching all arrivals. A staff of cooks with plentiful supplies took possession of the kitchen, preparing dishes which the ordinary citizen remembers to have eaten many years ago, but which now he sees only in his dreams. During and after the operation bulletins were continuously issued to the reporters of the Red Press and wired to Moscow.

The patient was in a very bad humour all during his stay at the hospital, and his language, although proving a high intelligence, was extremely overbearing and rude. The doctors and surgeons were royally paid by the Soviet Treasury, but they appreciated most the provisions and wine which they received as a present from the dictator's own cellars.

During and after the operation bulletins were continuously issued to the reporters of the Red Press and wired to Moscow.

The patient was in a very bad humour all during his stay at the hospital, and his language, although proving a high intelligence, was extremely overbearing and rude. The doctors and surgeons were royally paid by the Soviet Treasury, but they appreciated most the provisions and wine which they received as a present from the dictator's own cellars.

JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES.

A DANGEROUS TENSION.

EFFORTS TO PROMOTE GOOD FEELING.

The heightening of the tension between the American and the Japanese is seriously exercising responsible Japanese statesmen (says a Tokio telegram dated Saturday) and all true friends of both nations, who hope that the exchange of alarmist "Jingo" Press reports, which inevitably influence the minds of both sides, will soon cease. The Japan-American Society is sending two of its members to America to endeavour to secure a better understanding of the Japanese case in regard to the Californian and other questions, and to allay the feeling prevailing in America that Japan is looking for trouble. The delegates have been selected, but their acceptance of the mission is not yet certain. Meanwhile, it has been decided to request the Japan-American Society in New York, by telegram, to redouble their efforts to dispel the darkening clouds on both sides of the Pacific. Baron Goto, who is regarded as the next Premier, and who is an ex-Foreign Minister, in the course of a statement, strongly deprecated the Press outburst here against America, but, at the same time, refused to lead an attack against the Japanese Government over its American policy. He says—"The present phase of anti-Japanism in America is merely a phase in the Presidential campaign, and part of the general question which the wisest statesmen on both sides of the Pacific must face with a view to securing a fundamental settlement. Land-owning in California is not the real issue, but only part of it. The real issue is the question of discrimination. The Japanese must now remain cool, refusing to permit vote-catching politicians in either country to stampede them, while responsible statesmen must seek a proper solution of the question. It must be settled honourably on both sides. The Japanese must appeal to America's sense of honour and justice."

POLAND AND RUSSIA.

THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

A Riga telegram states that the prospects of immediate peace between the Soviets and the Poles is growing dimmer. The Poles continue to delay an answer to the Soviet proposals. While hoping for the best, the Bolsheviks assert that they are ready to continue the war.

The Times Riga Correspondent, telegraphing on Monday, says:—A considered reply will be presented by the Polish to the Bolshevist delegation to-day at noon. As private meetings between MM. Dombski and Joffe have been taking place during the last few days, great hopes are entertained that peace may be brought very near by to-day's meeting.

A communiqué issued in Warsaw says:—Consternation is increasing in the ranks of the Red Army. A Bolshevik division has been destroyed by the Polish cavalry near Hocodyszcze. A Soviet brigade surrendered.

WRANGEL'S CAMPAIGN.

IMPORTANT SUCCESSES.

General Wrangel, says a Constantinople message, dated Saturday, reports a further series of important successes, leading to the capture of Berdiansk, the important junction of Volnovokha, as well as several thousand prisoners. Further risings of peasants are reported from the region of Novomoskovsk and Pavlograd, in the Ekaterinoslav district, where General Mackhno has been most active. Information from independent sources describes how demoralisation is spreading extensively in the ranks of the Red troops in Southern Russia, and states that mutinies have become most frequent.

Reuter's Agency is informed that communiqués issued between September 27 and October 1 announce the following successes by General Wrangel's troops:—The capture of Stanitsa, in the direction of Mariupol, and the capture of Volnovokha, the village of Novotroitskoyo, and the station of Volitarama, with several hundred prisoners and the Staff of a Red brigade. A radio from Sevastopol received in Constantinople on October 1 announces the capture of Nogaisk and Berdiansk, in the region of Volnovokha. The Second Bolshevist Cavalry Brigade was surrounded and over 11,000 prisoners were taken.

GERMAN SOCIALIST AND CHAUVINISM.

Reuter's Berlin Correspondent, in a message dated Monday, says:—The Socialist, Dr. Lowenstein, whose recent appointment to the Presidency of the Berlin Schools Committee provoked vehement hostility in many quarters, on religious and political grounds, delivered a speech at a Socialist gathering at Steglitz yesterday, in which he declared that he would thoroughly root out the spirit of Chauvinism, which, since the days of the Kapp revolt, had been encouraged by teachers in the secondary schools. He added that the secular schools would triumph as surely as Socialism would overthrow Capitalism.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS AND THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL.

The various branches of the Independent Socialist Party held ballots on Sundays, says a Berlin telegram, with a view to choosing delegates to attend the party Congress at Halle, on October 12. The results received up to date, which are published in Diefreiheit show that in Berlin, Potsdam, Magdeburg, Mannheim, and Frankfort-on-Main, there were majorities, which were, however, in no case very large, for adhesion to the Third International, under the conditions laid down at Moscow; while there were majorities against adhesion in Leipzig, Plauen, and Bremen. In Bremen Moscow's adherents secured no delegates.

AUSTRO-GERMAN UNION MOVEMENT.

THE TREATIES TO BE ENFORCED.

It is stated at the Foreign Office to-day, says a Paris telegram, dated Monday, that important measures are to be taken to enforce the various Treaties and to prevent the union of Austria with Germany should the proposed plebiscite in Austria result in favour of such union. Meanwhile no action will be taken to prevent the holding of the plebiscite until views have been exchanged between France, Great Britain, and Italy to determine whether it comes under the ban of the respective Treaties. It is expected that the whole problem will be brought before the Conference of Ambassadors in some form before long.

DRASTIC CUT IN CHICAGO WHEAT PRICES.

A Chicago telegram, dated Monday, says—To-day there was drastic cutting in the prices of wheat, in some cases 12½ cents. per bushel, while increased liquidation by holders was in progress, especially from rural sources.

FAMOUS PAINTING RESTORED TO GHENT.

A Reuter message from Ghent, dated Monday, says—The definite restitution by Germany of the whole of the famous painting by Jan and Hubert Van Eyck, "The Adoration of the Immaculate Lamb," was made the occasion to-day of a solemn ceremony in the Rotunda of Ghent University, which was attended by a large number of artists and archæologists, and well-known persons in the domain of historical studies. The Belgian Minister of Arts and Sciences, M. Destrée, made a speech, in which he pointed out that the return of the picture was a real restoration on the part of Germany, and at the same time an act of just and equitable reparation. He further paid a tribute to M. Van Den Heuvel, who at Versailles negotiated the restoration in question. In the name of the British artistic world, the British delegate associated himself with the proceedings. The day ended with a demonstration at the Cathedral and a reception given by the Governor of the province.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Reuter's Bermuda Correspondent telegraphs: The Prince of Wales on Sunday drove 12 miles across the island to St. George, where General Sir James Willcocks bade him farewell. His Royal Highness afterwards embarked on the Renown.

Arrangements are being made to give the Prince of Wales a civic reception when he reaches Portsmouth in the cruiser Renown on the 11th inst. The Mayor and Corporation will welcome him on his disembarkation at the South Railway jetty in the dockyard, and an address will be presented on behalf of the town.

BRUSSELS CONFERENCE AND FREE TRADE.

Reuter's Brussels Correspondent telegraphs that the Commerce Committee of the International Financial Conference yesterday morning passed with virtual unanimity a resolution in favour of Free Trade.

FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS.

THE REPARATIONS PROBLEM.

In a message, dated Paris, Monday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—Herr von Mutius, head of the German Delegation which still remains in Paris to settle up outstanding questions, declared to-day that Germany would expect the Allies to keep the promise given at Spa, that the total sum of the reparations would be fixed at the Geneva Conference this autumn. He stated that there would probably be direct, but informal, negotiations between the French and German experts to prepare a basis for Geneva, but that neither the time, place, nor details of such conversations had yet been determined.

In a leading article that bears traces of official inspiration, the Temps says:—The time appears to have arrived when the state of Franco-German relations should be defined with the greatest precision. The paper recapitulates the speeches recently exchanged between various French and German Ministers, the first step taken in Paris in connection with direct economic negotiations, and the German proposals on the reparations to be made in conformity with the Treaty of Versailles. France, says the Temps, does not desire the ruin of Germany, but Germany should understand that, seeing that she is responsible for the catastrophe and ruin caused by her soldiers on our territory, we could not accept, either in regard to future economic relations, or in regard to the reparations due to us, any solution involving heavy sacrifice to our industry and national work, merely to profit corresponding German interests. In order that Franco-German relations may resume a normal character on the basis of the execution of the Treaty of Versailles, it is not sufficient that France should act in the spirit of peace. It is also necessary that the spirit of peace should be clearly displayed in the policy of the Berlin Government, and that the German people should be saturated with it, like the French. The paper recognises that Germany has carried out the engagements entered into at the Spa Conference, but remarks that hostile demonstrations against France are multiplying throughout the German Empire. In this connection, it refers to the Francophobe speeches on the occasion of Marshal Hindenburg's birthday, and declares that the spirit of peace must logically preside over the re-establishment of normal relations between the two nations.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND THE LEAGUE.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN APPEAL.

In his first campaign appeal, directed to the people, says a Washington telegram, President Wilson urges the endorsement of the League of Nations in the coming election. The world, he says, will await your verdict in November, as it would await an intimation of what the future is to be. The appeal characterises as absolutely false the assertion that Article 10 would make it possible for other nations to lead the United States into war, and declares that there is nothing in the Covenant interfering with, or impairing, the right of Congress to declare war, or not declare war, according to its own independent judgment. The appeal criticises those who grossly mislead the public as regards the Treaty.

The President further stated that those who had spent their lives as he had, familiarising themselves with the history, traditions, and policies of the nation, must stand amazed at the gross ignorance and impudent audacity which had led them to attempt to invent an Americanism which had no foundation whatever in any authentic traditions of the Government.

BULGARIAN PREMIER'S MISSION.

Reuter learns that M. Stanhinlinsky, Bulgarian Prime Minister, will remain in England for two weeks, and will visit Birmingham, Manchester, and Glasgow, and confer with a number of Chambers of Commerce. He will be accompanied by the Director of the Bulgarian State Railways, and the Director of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry. His mission is to explain the real post-war situation in Bulgaria, and the new policy of the Bulgarian Government, and to study industries. The object of his visit is really economic, rather than political.

MR. JACOB SCHIFF'S ESTATE.

Reuter's New York Correspondent telegraphs: The petition was filed on Monday of the late Mr. Jacob H. Schiff's estate. The petition does not give any figures, merely stating that the value of the estate is more than 10,000 dollars in real and personal property. Charitable bequests are mentioned, totalling 1,350,000 dollars. The only other legatees are the son, Mr. Mortimer Schiff, and the daughter, Mrs. Warburg, the residuary estate being divided between them, share and share alike.

THE MINERS' BALLOT.

ATTITUDE OF SOUTH WALES.

UNOFFICIAL STRIKES IN MANY DISTRICTS.

The form of the miners' ballot paper was issued last night. It is as follows:—

"Miners' Federation of Great Britain.

"For the employers' offer (employers' offer is set out on the back hereof).

"Against the employers' offer (employers' offer is set out on the back hereof).

"Please place your X in the space provided for the purpose according to your choice.—Frank Hodges, General Secretary, October 2nd, 1920."

The Executive makes no recommendation, but simply sets out the terms of the coalowners' offer on the back of the ballot paper.

Many hundreds of Staffordshire miners in the Oldhill district declined to resume work yesterday as a protest against the decision of the Miners' Federation in taking a second ballot, the men contending that the wages advance should be conceded or the strike forced. The leaders declared that the strike was unofficial, and they did not expect it to last long.

All collieries in Uddingston and Bothwell districts, in Lanarkshire, were idle yesterday, as a sequel to an unofficial meeting held at Uddingston on Sunday. The strike, which affects 3,000 men, is a protest against the action of the Federation in negotiating a datum line.

The whole of the miners in Bankarek, Denny loanhead, and Loryeroft districts of Stirlingshire also came out on strike yesterday.

The second ballot is strongly condemned, and a meeting at Kilsyth on Sunday expressed unanimous opposition to the whole policy of fixing wages on an output basis.

Contrary to expectations, the Council of the Nottinghamshire Miners' Association yesterday decided by a majority to recommend the men to vote down any idea of a datum line.

Two thousand miners at Gombill colliery, Treherbert, struck yesterday as a protest against the delay in the national negotiations. Three thousand workmen at No. 6 pit, Glamorgan collieries, Llwynpia, also struck. Between two and three thousand miners failed to present themselves at Cannock Chase pits yesterday.

SOUTH WALES MINERS OPPOSE EMPLOYERS' OFFER.

The situation was reviewed at a meeting of the Executive Council of the South Wales Federation at Cardiff yesterday, when it was decided to issue the following manifesto:—

"The Council has given detailed consideration to the terms offered by the coalowners for the settlement of the present wage dispute, and unanimously recommend South Wales members of the Federation to vote solidly against the acceptance of those terms. While these proposals do not contain the term datum line, the Council will take it that a vote against the owners' proposals is a vote against the principle of determining a wages' datum line. We take this opportunity of issuing this manifesto, so that there should be no misconception as to what the owners' terms contain. We strongly recommend that all members should participate in the ballot."

In an interview yesterday regarding the threatened break-away of the South Wales miners, a prominent mining official pointed out that any general stoppage there would penalise workmen in English and Scottish coalfields. The weekly output of coal in South Wales and Monmouthshire was at present in the neighbourhood of 950,000 tons. If that output were cut off the datum line could not be reached.

At numerous South Wales meetings an inclination to down tools as a protest against the proposed datum line terms has been manifested. A few sporadic strikes resulted yesterday at some pits.

THE SCOTTISH MINERS.

After a lengthy meeting yesterday the Executive of the Scottish Unions of Mine Workers decided not to make any recommendation regarding the vote. It is understood that each district is left to determine its policy. The Lanarkshire miners have decided to recommend their members to oppose acceptance.

COLLAPSE OF A HOUSE IN BELFAST.

THREE PERSONS INJURED.

A house in Crimea street, off Shankhill road, Belfast, in which a family of three, a Mr. and Mrs. Murray and a little boy, had taken refuge since they were evicted from their home during the recent disturbances, collapsed yesterday evening. All three persons were injured, one of them seriously. The collapsed house adjoined a spirit grocery, which was burned out in the riots.

AMBUSH SURPRISED.

CIVILIAN SHOT DEAD.

ARMS, AMMUNITION, AND HELMETS SEIZED.

A report which reached the military headquarters in Dublin last night states that yesterday a patrol of twenty soldiers surprised about sixty civilians, who were preparing an ambush on the Cork and Bandon road.

On seeing the patrol, the civilians fled, and one of them was killed.

Several shot guns, a quantity of ammunition, ten bicycles, steel helmets, and equipment were abandoned by the civilians in their flight.

There were no military casualties.

FARMER'S SON SHOT.

STATEMENT BY DECEASED MAN'S FATHER.

Our Tuam Correspondent telegraphs:—John O'Hanlon, a farmer's son, of Lackagh, Turloughmore, was shot dead by a party of armed men at about 9.30 o'clock p.m. on Sunday night. His aged father told me that he and his son were having supper in the kitchen, and that his son's wife and her two children and his aged mother were in the house. They heard a motor car stand outside on the road. A knocking came to the door, and admission was demanded. His son sprang to the back door, and went out, and two men, one dressed in a long black coat and a small black cap, and the other wearing a trench coat and civilian cap, and armed with revolvers, entered. One of them asked Mrs. O'Hanlon what her son went away for. They then began to search the house, and soon afterwards two shots were heard going off at the rear of the house, and the two strange men left. Old O'Hanlon says that there were about fourteen men outside at the lorry. He went out shortly after, and looked for his son, but could not find him. About six o'clock on the following morning he was shocked to find his son lying dead on the broad of his back on a little stile leading from the back yard to a small orchard. There was a bullet mark through his forehead. The pockets of his clothes had been searched. He was about 34 years of age, and was Secretary of the local Sinn Fein Club. Requiem Mass was celebrated yesterday for the repose of his soul, and Father O'Malley, P.P., referred to the outrage as a callous crime on an inoffensive and respectable young man. The interment afterwards took place in the graveyard, about one hundred yards from the scene of the shooting. A big number of Volunteers marched in the funeral procession, and the coffin was wrapped in the Republican flag. Soon afterwards two lorries of police, in charge of District Inspector O'Callaghan, Tuam, arrived. Statements were taken from those in the house.

The Press Association, in a report of the occurrence, states that the military had raided the local mails a few days ago.

SINN FEIN COURTS.

THREE ARRESTS IN WEXFORD.

Our Wexford Correspondent, in a telegram last night says:—When a Borough Arbitration Court was being held in the Town Hall, Wexford, the military surrounded the building, and the police entered and arrested Alderman Richard Corish (Mayor), who was said to have been presiding; Mr. Edward Foley, merchant, who was with him on the bench, and Mr. Francis Carty, the Registrar. Litigants and witnesses were searched, but were not detained.

Alderman Corish protested that, as Mayor of the town, he was entitled to hold a Borough Court.

The prisoners were removed under a strong escort to the barracks.

COURT DISPERSED AT NAVAN.

The Sinn Fein North Meath Arbitration Court, says our Navan Correspondent in a telegram yesterday, opened in the Council Chambers of the Meath County Council buildings, Navan, to-day, the adjudicators being Messrs. S. McNamidhe, President; P. J. Clynch, Chairman of the County Council; P. Hopkins, and F. J. McCabe. There were 29 cases for adjudication, and about 100 litigants and witnesses, and six solicitors were present. Republican police were on duty. The Chairman opened the proceedings in Irish.

A big claim for an alleged breach of warranty in connection with the sale of a horse had been heard, the proceedings being in progress for an hour, when the announcement was made that the military were approaching, and the Chairman suggested that the business should proceed.

A detachment of soldiers entered the Council's premises, armed sentries were posted at the entrance gates, and others were stationed at the rear of the building.

Head Constable Queenin, two military officers and some soldiers went upstairs, and into the Council's rooms. The former said that he presumed that that was a Sinn Fein Court.

The Chairman replied that it was an Arbitration Court under the authority of the representatives of the people.

The Head Constable replied that they had orders to disperse the court and seize the documents.

The President replied that under the circumstances force would be worse than useless.

The military then searched the adjudicators, solicitors, and litigants, taking the names of all present.

The entry sheet was taken, as were also the solicitors' briefs and the reporters' copy, the officer intimating that the copy would be restored as soon as it would be examined by Headquarters. The names of two journalists in the court were taken down.

Soon afterwards the military left.

In a room downstairs the monthly meetings of the Agricultural and Technical Committees were held without interference.

FORESTALLING THE JUDGE.

Our Ballymote Correspondent states that a Sinn Fein Court, sitting at Ballinacarrow, Co. Sligo, disposed of all the business which would in the ordinary course have come before Judge Wakely at the Ballymote Quarter Sessions two days before His Honour sat.

FUNERAL OF DISTRICT INSPECTOR BRADY.

The funeral of Mr. James Joseph Brady, District Inspector, Royal Irish Constabulary, who was shot dead near Tubbercurry, Co. Sligo, on Thursday evening last while performing his duties, took place yesterday from Aughrim street Church, Dublin, to Glasnevin Cemetery. The cortège was a large one, and, besides the numerous friends of the family who mourned with them the loss of a fine young man who had served his country in the late war, there were contingents of military and police which lent an impressive air to the sad occasion. Requiem Mass was celebrated in the church in the presence of a large congregation by the Very Rev. Canon Burke, P.P., assisted by the Rev. Fathers Turley and Farrington. The deceased's old school, Castleknock College, was represented by the Rev. Fathers Vincent McCarthy and McQuillan, C.M. Other clergy present were:—Right Rev. Monsignor Dunne, P.P., Donnybrook; Rev. Joseph Geoghegan, C.M.; Very Rev. T. O'Donnell, C.M., President, All Hallows' College; Rev. Charles O'N. Lawless, C.C., Blackrock; Rev. P. Ryan, C.C., Fairview. The Rev. Father Brown, S.J., late Chaplain Irish Guards, was by other pressing duties prevented from attending.

Amongst the laity were:—Captain Louis Brady and Mrs. Brady (parents of the deceased), Mr. P. J. Brady (uncle) and Mrs. Brady, Mr. Joseph Corless (uncle), Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dunne, Mr. John Landy, representatives of the Sisters of Charity (Fairview), Miss McCarthy (Recess, Co. Galway), the Lord Chief Justice, Commander Webb, R.N.R., Harbour Master, Dublin; Mr. Thomas F. Monks, solr.; Mr. P. Rooney, solr.; Sir Joseph Glynn, Mrs. John Murray, Mr. John Griffiths, Mr. Edward Lee, C. P. Glennon, Captain Dunne, M.C.; J. M. Greer, Mrs. McWeeney, Lieutenant-Colonel Edgeworth-Johnstone, Chief Commissioner, D.M.P.; Mr. C. A. Walsh, Assistant Inspector-General, R.I.C.; Mr. G. B. Heard, Commandant, A.I.G.; Captain Duffy, County Inspector, R.I.C.; District Inspectors Silcocks, Lester, and Munro, R.I.C.; Dr. Pryce Peacock, Surgeon to R.I.C.; Captain F. J. Dunne, Royal Irish Regiment. Colonel McCalmont and the officers of the Irish Guards (to which regiment the deceased was attached before joining the R.I.C.) were represented by Sir Gerald Burke, A.D.C. to the Lord Lieutenant. The Dublin Metropolitan Police and the Royal Irish Constabulary each furnished a contingent and band, and the Royal Irish Constabulary supplied a guard of honour. The military authorities were represented by a party of commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Irish Guards, and the Headquarters Staff were also represented. The coffin was conveyed on a military gun carriage.

Amongst the wreaths which were placed on the grave were those from deceased's father and mother; from Colonel McCalmont and officers of the Irish Guards; from the Inspector-General, R.I.C., and Officers at Headquarters, Dublin; from the Commandant officers and men of the Royal Irish Constabulary at the Depôt; from Commander and Mrs. Webb; from the R.I.C., Tubbercurry; from the Irish Guards' Old Comrades in Dublin; from officers and men of the D.M.P., and from the Harbour Police.

The Rev. Father Turley officiated at the graveside, and when the grave was closed the "Last Post" was sounded by a bugler of the Royal Irish Constabulary.

FRENCHPARK BARRACK ATTACK.

HOUSE-BURNINGS AND RIFLE FIRING.

Our Ballymote Correspondent telegraphs:—Following an unsuccessful attack on Frenchpark (Co. Roscommon) Police Barrack in the early hours of Saturday morning last, the village of Ballinagare, four miles distant, has been partially wrecked, and at least three houses were burned to the ground. The attack on the barrack opened about 6.30 a.m., after the raiding party, variously estimated at from twenty to sixty, had commandeered the surrounding houses, including the local post office. The party at first attempted to gain an entrance to Messrs. Beirne's, which is directly opposite the barrack, by a ruse, and when this failed an entrance was forced through the window, and a large party of armed men rushed in.

The crash of the breaking glass apparently aroused the barrack garrison of fourteen men, and they immediately opened fire. The rapid exchange of shots and the sharp cracking of rifles was drowned by the louder reports of bombs, which were freely used by both sides. A large quantity of hay, saturated with petrol, had been placed up against the barrack door, and in an effort to set it alight, it is reported that one or two of the attackers received wounds. Traces of blood were found close to the spot. Elaborate precautions had been taken to prevent reinforcements arriving. Bridges were blown up on the roads leading to Castlerea and Dublin, while the roads to Ballaghaderéen and other parts were blocked by felled trees, and drains were cut, and the telegraph wires were pulled down on either side of the town. After less than half an hour, the attackers withdrew, leaving a shot gun and some petrol behind them. When the owner of the house in which the gun was left returned after an absence of an hour he took up the weapon, which immediately exploded, the charge grazing his leg and ploughing a large hole in the floor.

THE ATTACK ON BALLINAGARE.

On Saturday night lorries full of armed men arrived at Ballinagare, and, amid the rapid discharge of firearms, two business houses, owned by men named M. Kelly and P. Martin, were burned. Other houses were less seriously damaged, and after an hour the party left.

At the house of a farmer named Hanley, a mile away, the firing was renewed, and the terrified owner and his family fled into the fields in their night attire. In a few minutes the house, which is a thatched one, was in flames, and then the out-offices and the hay, oats, and turf followed. A piggery, which caught fire, contained a valuable sow and litter of bonhams. They were burned to cinders, as was also a bullock. It is said that previous to setting the place on fire the attackers removed an old man, 80 years of age, and when everything around the place was demolished the party went to another farm which Hanley had recently acquired, and set fire to two pikes of hay there. The people of the district fled from their homes, and spent the night in the open, scantily clothed, and in a downpour of rain.

No casualties are reported among the garrison at Frenchpark, and only slight damage was caused to the barrack.

INCIDENTS IN THE PROVINCES.

At the Kells Quarter Sessions, Judge Fleming awarded a total sum of over £22,000 for the burning of police barracks, a workhouse, a courthouse, and other buildings in the district.

Our Bailieborough Correspondent writes:—It is stated that a large quantity of rifles, revolvers, and ammunition belonging to the Ulster Volunteers was stored in the Arva (Co. Cavan) Barracks when it was attacked by raiders, and that they were taken away in motor cars by the raiders.

During the hearing of a case at a Sinn Fein Court in the County Cavan, in which two men summoned each other for trespass and the breaking of fences, the President, addressing them said—"Both of you were at the Sessional Court last week, and now you are as bad as ever. We give you over to the Volunteers, and whoever makes the trouble in future will get a long drive, but he will have to find his way back."

EX-SOLDIER'S EXPERIENCE IN DERRY.

During Sunday night raids were made in various thoroughfares in Derry. No arrests were effected, but an air gun, a sword, and several empty rifle cartridges were seized by the soldiers. After "Curfew" several shots were fired by the military at pedestrians who failed to answer the challenge. An ex-soldier, arrested for being abroad after "Curfew," escaped from the military when being brought to the barracks. Two or three rifle shots were fired at him. A shout from the fugitive indicated that at least one of the shots took effect, but he succeeded in making his escape.

COMPENSATION CLAIMS IN DONEGAL.

Our Strabane Correspondent states:—Claims amounting to £57,282 have been lodged in connection with malicious injuries in County Donegal. They include the wounding and shooting of policemen, and the burning of police barracks and war signal stations. The claims will be heard during the week.

MAILS SEIZED.

Our Ballymote Correspondent says:—The evening mail train from Sligo to Dublin was stopped at Kilfree Junction, Co. Sligo, on Saturday, by armed men, some of whom were masked. The mails were taken out and examined, and all official correspondence was taken away. This is the fourth raid on the mails in this district within the past two months.

MILITARY COURT OF INQUIRY.

Yesterday a Military Court of Inquiry sat in the village of Cullen, County Tipperary, and took evidence regarding the death of a young man named Hugh Conway, who died from gunshot wounds.

Several witnesses were examined, after which the Court adjourned.

"CURFEW" ORDER IN MALLOW.

According to an Exchange Company's telegram from Cork, Mallow has been put under the "Curfew" Order. The compensation claims for the recent destruction of property in the town amount to £300,000.

MILITARY SEARCHES IN DUBLIN.

The residence of Dr. Kathleen Lynn, F.R.C.S.I., a member of the Rathmines Urban District Council, at 9 Belgrave road, was visited by a party of military at one o'clock this morning. A search of the house, lasting an hour, was made, and a copy of an advertisement relating to the Dail Eireann loan was seized.

Military also searched the residence of Mrs. Sheehy-Skeffington at No. 7.

No arrests were made.

DUBLIN ALDERMAN ARRESTED.

Alderman Charles Murphy, whose residence at Sydney terrace, Dolphin's Barn, was searched by military on Saturday night, was taken to Mountjoy Prison following his arrest.

AWARDS FOR MALICIOUS DAMAGE IN LISMORE.

Our Dungarvan Correspondent states:—The Lismore Quarter Sessions are being held at Dungarvan, in consequence of the Lismore Courthouse having been burned.

The Duke of Devonshire was awarded £5,000 for the burning of Lismore Courthouse.

The Lismore Dramatic Class was awarded £150 for furniture of theirs burned in the courthouse on the occasion of the fire.

MILITARY ACTIVITY IN STRABANE.

A party of military arrived at Railway street, Strabane, at 5.30 p.m. on Sunday morning, and for two hours searched the premises where a young man named McGrory had stayed. McGrory, who was arrested a few days ago, is a native of Mountcharles, Co. Donegal.

A contingent of military arrived late in Strabane on Saturday night, and have taken the Strabane Courthouse as their headquarters.

THE BELFAST EXPELLED WORKERS.

Acknowledging a contribution of £200 from Youghal, Mr. E. Gullery, Hon. Secretary, Belfast Expelled Workers' Fund, says that 7,600 persons, with a dependency of 30,000, were now affected, and this number was every day increasing. On September 21st alone 1,005 cases of freshly expelled workpeople, chiefly from the Belfast warehouses, were added to the list.

ARRESTS UNDER THE "CURFEW" ORDER.

Five persons were arrested in Dublin under the "Curfew" Order this morning.

At a meeting of seamen held at Melbourne yesterday, it was decided to support the attempt to abolish the Sydney Overseas Bureau, owing to the engagement of non-unionists. This decision may mean a refusal to man ships carrying cargo or coal for transhipment to overseas, but a general strike is regarded as unlikely.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

BOLSHEVIK TERROR IN GRODNO.

In a message, dated Monday, Reuter's Washington Correspondent says:—The entry of the Polish troops into Grodno was greeted with indescribable enthusiasm by the population. During their stay in Grodno the Bolsheviks made every effort to enforce their régime. A Revolutionary Committee, chiefly composed of Communist Jews, terrorised the town. House-to-house searches, arrests, and shootings took place daily. On leaving Grodno the Bolsheviks set fire to buildings in many parts of the town. Slobodka, one of the richest suburbs of Grodno, was entirely destroyed by fire.

CAPTAIN LENDRUM'S DEATH.

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT.

The following statement was issued from Dublin Castle yesterday:—

In connection with the death of Captain Lendrum, R.M., and the subsequent threat of reprisals, two civilians interviewed one of the police district inspectors in West Clare, and informed him that Captain Lendrum had been shot dead when ambushed on the 22nd September, and that Sinn Fein would give up the body if the police were withheld from their threatened reprisals for a period sufficient to enable them to obtain the body, as "at present there were difficulties in the way."

The informants also told the district inspector that they were compelled to deliver the information to the police under threat from Sinn Fein Volunteers. Further information was received on the morning of the 1st October that a coffin had been seen on the railway line at Kilmurry, Co. Clare.

Police proceeded to that place, and found the body, which was wrapped in a sheet, and enclosed in a rudely constructed coffin of white wood, on the lid of which was pencilled, in capital letters, "To Kilkee." The body and the sheet showed traces of having been in the sea for some days, which would, no doubt, account for the difficulty in the way of recovery referred to by the two informants.

THE FUNERAL.

A Correspondent states that the remains of Captain Lendrum were interred at Kilskeery, County Tyrone, on Sunday. Detachments from the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, the Bedfordshire Regiment, and the Royal Irish Constabulary were present, and the Ulster Volunteers lined the avenue through which the cortège passed to Kilskeery Protestant Church. The coffin, which was draped with the Union Jack, and bore the deceased officer's sword and cap, was carried by six officers of the Inniskilling Fusiliers. Three volleys were fired over the grave, and the "Last Post" was sounded.

THE LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

The Lord Mayor of Cork yesterday morning was slightly worse.

Last evening the Lord Mayor of Cork was visited by his brother and Father Dominic. They left shortly after ten o'clock.

The following telegram was received yesterday by the Deputy Lord Mayor of Cork:—"No change in the Lord Mayor's condition.—Father Dominic."

The Deputy Lord Mayor received the following telegram:—"Corporation and citizens in Waterford, after offering up Mass this morning, extend to the Lord Mayor and his noble colleagues on hunger-strike their deep admiration for their sacrifices and sufferings in the holy cause of freedom.—Town Clerk."

There is no material change in the condition of the Cork prisoners on hunger-strike.

NORTH-WEST FRONTIER.

Reuter's Agency learns that the following telegram, dated September 30th, has been received in London from Waziristan:—On September 18th the Jala Khel, the last of the recalcitrant sections, decided on peace. The Wand Waziris are becoming apprehensive as to the future. The Maliks have gone to Khost to discuss their policy, and Haji Abdur Rasah, with a Red Crescent mission, has moved from Shaka to Wand. The Chitral relief column reached Dir on September 27 without incident. There is no change on the Hazara border. Negotiations with the tribal Jirgas continue, and some sections are complying with the terms, but others are still recalcitrant. The Drazinda Post is reported to be surrounded by Waziri raiders. Measures are being taken for its relief.

CASUALTIES IN THE GALE.

The gale drove the French four-masted barquentine Yvonne ashore at Plymouth yesterday. Eighteen of the crew were landed. One man is missing. He was last seen on a frail raft, carried seaward.

During the gale at Torquay on Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. Casson attempted to land from a yacht in a small dinghy, and were drowned.

A young postman was killed at Torquay on Sunday night by a heavy wave dashing him against railings.

EXPRESS TRAIN DELAYED.

As the Rosslare express train reached within a mile and a half of Dungarvan on Sunday morning the engine driver had to pull up owing to the storm and high tide, the railway embankment being flooded. The train was obliged to wait for nearly four hours until the tide receded, when it was found that the rails were little damaged.

DAMAGE TO CROPS IN CO. KILDARE.

A very severe storm raged throughout Kildare on Saturday night and Sunday. A great deal of damage has been caused in consequence to crops. One field of corn at Athgarvan is entirely thrown down, damaged, and in part swept away by the storm.

BROKEN HILL MINE DISPUTE.

A Melbourne telegram states that after seventeen months of idleness at the Broken Hill Mines, the companies have decided to re-open the mines immediately, under the award announced two or three days ago by the tribunal which sat to consider the disputes between the miners and the mine-owners. This award granted a minimum wage of 15s. a day, a 44-hour week for underground workers, and compensation for workers who contract disease.

RAILWAYMEN AND STRIKES.

Mr. W. J. Abrahams, President of the N.U.R., addressing railway workers at Mansfield on Sunday night, said that revolution by a national strike was too risky. He believed when their people were sufficiently class conscious they would bring about a revolution through the ballot box. A resolution was adopted agreeing that the miners' claim was reasonable, but that endeavours for a settlement instead of direct action were right.

DUBLIN NIGHT-WORKERS AND STREET LIGHTING.

Owing to the fact that for months past the street lamps of Dublin have been extinguished before midnight and not afterwards re-lighted, the printers and others engaged in the production of the morning newspapers, as well as other night-workers, have passed resolutions requesting the Dublin Corporation, and also the Rathmines and Pembroke townships, to have the lights turned on from 3.30 a.m., in order to enable them to reach their homes in safety. These resolutions have been forwarded to the proper authorities, but up to the present have not met with the desired response.

DUBLIN CORPORATION AND IRISH.

QUESTION OF RECORDING VOTES.

ATTITUDE OF TOWN CLERK AND LAW ADVISER.

A NOVEL DEVELOPMENT.

At yesterday's meeting of the Dublin Corporation,

Mr. Forrestal called attention to the figures announced by the Town Clerk on a division which had just been taken on a matter affecting an expenditure of £1,000. He said that the voting given by the Town Clerk was twenty-one for and eleven against, while there were some sixty members present; and he wished to know had the names of those members who had voted in Irish been recorded.

The Lord Mayor asked the Town Clerk if he had recorded those votes which were given in Irish.

The Town Clerk—I did not, Lord Mayor.

Mr. Forrestal—Now, Lord Mayor, this places us in an extraordinary position.

The Lord Mayor said that a resolution had been adopted by the Council suspending the standing order regarding votes on a division, "in order that the votes of members which are given on the specific business of this Council in the Irish equivalent of aye and no—i.e., biodh and na biodh, respectively—be recorded."

The Lord Mayor asked the Town Clerk if he had recorded the votes in Irish.

The Town Clerk—That has not been done, Lord Mayor, because I am acting under standing orders which have not been rescinded, and I am obliged as your Town Clerk to carry them out until they are altered, amended, or abolished.

The Lord Mayor—Does not the resolution suspend or alter the standing order?

The Town Clerk—It does not, Lord Mayor. It is merely a resolution of the Council. The standing orders are by-laws, having the force of law, and as Town Clerk I wish to say, with great respect and every desire to help the Council in every way I can——

Mr. Lyons—Nobody is going to believe you.

The Town Clerk—I do not care whether you do or not. I am prepared to carry out my duties within the law. (Cries of "What law?")

Mr. Lynch said that he had a motion on the agenda on the subject of voting in Irish, but he withdrew it in favour of the motion of Mr. Forrestal. That Council had declared its allegiance to Dail Eireann, and if there was anything against that in the standing orders, then the standing orders must go by the board, and if the Town Clerk did not carry out his duty then he also should go. (Applause.) The Town Clerk had shown his bias to him (Mr. Lynch), because he told him that he would not take his usual signature in Irish on a ballot paper. When he (Mr. Lynch) mentioned the acceptance of a name in Irish in the same circumstances the Town Clerk told him that it did not matter—evidently he wanted it both ways. He simply said, "I refuse to witness the declaration," and signified that it was open to a common informer to get the election upset. Knowing the excrescences of humanity that there were in the city, he (Mr. Lynch) signed his name in English.

Alderman Cosgrave said that he had raised the question of the standing orders as they affected the Irish language. The matter was a serious one from several points of view. The Irish language was not going to be proscribed in the City of Dublin by either the standing orders of the Corporation or by the British Government. It was reasonable and businesslike that the votes of the members should be recorded in Irish. No member of the Council had a right to stay within the barrier without recording his vote.

The Lord Mayor—I have explained that, Alderman.

Alderman Cosgrave said that standing orders which were adopted twenty years ago or more should not be allowed to stop the business of the Council as at present constituted, and if they did stop the business, they had better go, and go rapidly. The divisions of the Council should be correctly recorded.

Mrs. Wyse Power—We notice that when the Town Clerk is not here the votes given in Irish are recorded by Mr. Flood.

The Lord Mayor said that it was quite true that the Assistant Town Clerk, when acting, had recorded the votes of the members in Irish.

Dr. McWalter—It is within the competence of the Council to change the standing order, but you must change it in accordance with the law which made that standing order, and you may take it that the Town Clerk is absolutely right. There are a number of formalities to be gone through, and I take it that the Town Clerk is taking up a legal position at least.

Mr. Forrestal—There is nothing in the standing orders to say that the Irish language shall not be used in recording votes.

Sir Andrew Beattie—The Town Clerk has always done his duty honestly and straight, and, if he were otherwise, I would be in favour of letting him go.

Mr. P. T. Daly agreed with Sir A. Beattie that the Town Clerk was desirous of having his record correct.

Alderman Cosgrave demanded a further division, in which the votes given in Irish were correctly recorded.

THE TOWN CLERK'S ATTITUDE.

The Town Clerk—You know that this question arose early in the proceedings of the new Council, and I had a difficulty then, and your lordship directed the opinion of counsel to be taken as to what the Town Clerk was to do. Counsel's opinion was that the Town Clerk should call the name, and, if it was answered in any language other than the English language, he should not record it, as it was not in accordance with standing orders, and that he should proceed with the record in no other language than the English language. Counsel also held that if a member was within the Council and did not vote there was no need to leave the Council. I am desirous to go on within the law, but I must keep my proceedings in the English language as Town Clerk. I desire to obey the law if you allow me to do so. Otherwise you have your own remedy, and the position will be an unpleasant one for me.

Mr. Forrestal—Are we to understand that you must be a speaker of English to be a member of the Dublin City Council? There are 25,000 or 30,000 people in Ireland who do not know English, and if one of them presented himself as a candidate for the Municipal Council, would the standing orders debar him from taking his place?

Dr. McWalter said that the question upon which the vote was being taken was one involving thousands of pounds on the rates—the motion was a money vote.

The Lord Mayor asked Alderman Cosgrave under what standing order he demanded a second division.

Alderman Cosgrave—There has been no division—I am standing on that. The poll taken was not a correct one.

The Town Clerk—I have complied with the standing orders and have called a division and announced the result.

The Lord Mayor—A member of the Council has definitely stated that the division was not properly recorded, and, therefore, it is my duty to ask the Town Clerk to call a division again.

The Town Clerk—Very well, Lord Mayor; in obedience to you I will call it again.

One of the first names called was that of Alderman Staines, M.P., who answered "Biodh," whereupon the Town Clerk refused to record the vote.

LORD MAYOR'S DECISION.

The Lord Mayor—Now the time comes for me to rule, and never was a Lord Mayor placed in a greater difficulty than I am in at present. No matter what my position may be in this matter, no matter what the action of the Town Clerk in future, it is only fair I should state that I have been close on four years Lord Mayor, and publicly I must thank the Town Clerk for the great help he has given on every occasion in carrying out the duties of this Council. Now I am placed in a difficulty, in which I fear I cannot see eye to eye with the Town Clerk. When the new Council was appointed the question of voting in the Irish language immediately arose. I did not press the Town Clerk then to register the votes in Irish, because I was not clear what the wishes of the Council would be. A motion was put down, passed by the Law Officers, and carried by the Council unanimously, and I am not going, in the first place, to deny the right of the language of my country to be used here; and, secondly, I am not going to appear to upset the unanimous opinion of my colleagues given on that motion. Consequently, I rule that, as that motion was passed, if the votes are registered in Irish, no great fundamental principle would be strained. I do not think anyone would dare to interfere with the Town Clerk if he registered the votes as given in this Council. Consequently, I rule that the Town Clerk, in my opinion, would not be going against standing orders to register the votes as given in this Council, whether in Irish or in English.

Alderman MacDonagh asked if the Town Clerk definitely refused to record the votes in Irish.

The Town Clerk said that he had no alternative but to keep to standing orders and the statutes under which he acted. These were in the English language, and their records had been kept during his term of office and many years before in English. He had no personal feeling in the matter, and only wanted to do his duty in accordance with the law. Since they would not allow him to do that duty according to law, probably they would give him time to consider his position in connection with the matter. That was the least he could ask after nearly twenty-eight years. He thought they would give him credit for having always stood by his principles.

Alderman Cosgrave said that he thought the Town Clerk should be allowed to retire from the meeting. He (Mr. Campbell) had not been in good health; consequently he should not be pressed for a prompt reply.

Mr. Lyons asked could they give the Town Clerk leave of absence for a few months.

Sir Andrew Beattie suggested a special meeting to deal with the matter.

Alderman Cosgrave said that they could not have an adjournment in the middle of a division.

The Lord Mayor said that if the Town Clerk remained, they could not proceed with the division, and he saw no alternative but to adjourn the meeting.

Alderman Cosgrave—I am prepared to give every consideration to the Town Clerk, but on the question of principle I cannot give way one inch, and I suggest that Mr. Flood call the roll in the ordinary way.

TOWN CLERK RETIRES.

The Town Clerk—I will retire, and you can hold the meeting, if you are able, under the standing orders.

The Assistant Town Clerk, Mr. Flood, was then requested to take the division, but, on the first member answering in Irish, he said that, having regard to the definition of the standing orders given by the Town Clerk, he could not take up any other position than follow his example.

Mr. Flood then retired from the Council Chamber, and Alderman McWalter moved the adjournment.

Mr. J. R. Stritch seconded, saying that the opinion of eminent counsel was that they could not use any other language than the English, but because that opinion did not please the majority of the Council they were going to turn it down.

LAW AGENT SENT FOR.

Alderman Cosgrave suggested that they should send for the Law Agent; and they would get an officer to act for the Town Clerk if they had to exhaust the whole list of their employés.

The Lord Mayor said that Mr. Flood's position was one that they must admire. Any of them would have retired in his place.

The Law Agent, Mr. Rice, was then called in, and, the situation having been explained to him, he said that he felt bound to deal with the matter in exactly the same way as the Town Clerk. Previous to the resolution in favour of Irish in the divisions being passed he advised the Lord Mayor it was not in order. "You cannot," he added, "pass a general resolution suspending a standing order." He was, therefore, in the same position as the Town Clerk.

Alderman Cosgrave—We want the votes recorded, and we want to know if you are going to refuse to record them?

The Law Agent—In the first place, I am not Town Clerk. I am not Assistant or a member of the Town Clerk's staff, and I question the right of the Council to call on me to do anything. If the Council insist further, I will have a further answer.

In the course of further conversation, Mr. Losty, one of the officials, was about to remove a book from the Town Clerk's table, when the Lord Mayor said—Who dares remove that book (meaning the division book)?

Mr. Losty—I was looking for the Town Clerk's glasses. I thought they were folded in the leaves.

It was then decided, the Law Agent having withdrawn, to send for Mr. M. Walsh, of the Town Clerk's office.

After further delay, it was announced that Mr. Walsh, next in seniority on the Town Clerk's staff, was not available.

The Law Agent having meanwhile withdrawn, Alderman Cosgrave suggested that Councillor Forrestal be asked to take the division in proper form.

The suggestion was accepted, and Mr. Forrestal took his seat at the Town Clerk's table, and, the division having been taken, the figures were given as thirty for and fifteen against.

The Lord Mayor said that he should protest in the strongest possible manner against the position in which the Council had that day been placed by the officials of the Corporation. By the unanimous voice of the Council a resolution was passed at the last meeting that the votes of the representatives of the people there should be recorded in Irish. They now found that the language of their country was going to be trampled upon by their officials, and it was "up to" them to see that if every official of the Corporation left them, they were then going to discharge their own business. (Applause.)

Mr. Forrestal was then appointed hon. secretary of the meeting, and the business was resumed, a motion for adjournment having been defeated by a large majority.

LORD HAIG'S APPEAL FOR EX-SERVICE MEN.

Earl Haig, addressing a representative meeting of Glasgow citizens yesterday, appealed for support for ex-Service men by providing work for those able for it, and money for the disabled. He referred to the formation of the Officers' Association, but added that it was his aim to see a great United Empire Organisation for that purpose. He would attend a conference at Leicester next month, and visit Cape Town next spring. Contributions totalling £23,000 were intimated yesterday.

The Crown Prince of Sweden, announces our Stockholm Correspondent, will shortly spend a holiday in Southern Europe, probably in Greece and Italy. He will be accompanied by his uncle, Prince Eugen.

THE BANBRIDGE MURDER.

EVIDENCE OF IDENTIFICATION.

PRISONERS AGAIN REMANDED.

At Banbridge Courthouse yesterday—before Mr. G. McElroy, R.M.—William Conlon, Gilford; William M'Conville, cashier, Gilford; Frank O'Boyle, Beragh; and Hugh Rogers, Sixmilecross, were charged on remand with the wilful murder of William M'Dowell on the 3rd September last.

Mr. H. H. Mussen, Crown Solicitor for Down, prosecuted; Mr. J. H. Collins, Newry, appeared for Conlon; Mr. J. Gallery, Lurgan, for M'Conville; Mr. F. Shiels (of Shiels and Murnaghan) for Rogers; and Mr. H. Hayes, Lurgan, for Messrs. Dunbar and M'Master (M'Conville's employers).

Miss Letitia Tate, of Bannford House, Gilford, confirmed her previous deposition, in which she related how on the morning of the 3rd September last she left the house at 9.35 a.m. with the baby which she looked after. She went down the back avenue to the road, and saw William M'Dowell's motor car pass. Witness turned towards Gilford, and walked slowly till she came to the bridge stream, where she met a man on the footpath, who inquired about the baby. This man was dressed in grey clothes and a grey cap, which was pulled down over the left side of his head. He wore a cardigan jacket, and had his hands in the pockets of it. This man spoke with what she would call a Canadian accent—a little through his nose. Witness continued to walk towards Beck's mill, and when she got there she saw a motor car in Beck's back lane. The back of the car was towards the road. It came out slowly, and then turned in the direction of Banbridge. Witness then saw it was a black car, with a black hood, a black wind screen, and celluloid windows. There were two men in the car, both in the front seat. The car started off, and went at a furious rate past her. Just in front of the letter-box at the foot of Mr. Sinton's avenue witness saw the man who had accosted her, and whom she had described. He was coming towards her, and he put up his hand as a signal to the motor car to stop, and the car immediately swerved in towards the avenue, and stopped. The brakes were put on quite suddenly. The man got into the car, which started off towards Banbridge. Witness then walked out to the Tullylish road and back again, and then went into her avenue, when she heard two shots fired, one after the other. They were loud and quite distinct in the direction of Knocknagore. On Sunday, 5th September, witness was in Banbridge R.I.C. barrack, and saw a number of men in a row. She picked out from amongst them the man she had seen on the Lawrencetown road on the 3rd September, and whom she had seen getting into the car. He was the prisoner Conlon now present, and it was he who spoke. "I am quite sure of him," she added.

THE OCCUPANTS OF THE CAR.

Further questioned, witness said that she had since learned that Beck's back lane was Stoney's loaning. She was less than three yards away when the car stopped, and when the man got in. She had already stated that she saw Conlon getting into the car.

Did you see anyone in the car? Yes; there were two other men in the car. I saw both.

Can you recognise any of them here to-day?

Witness (pointing dramatically to Rodgers) said—"I saw him in the car. That is the man, but I don't know his name."

Did you hear any conversation at all? Yes, the man I have identified, and who sat in the front of the motor, leaned over to the side where the windscreen was undone, quite distinct for me to hear him.

Where was Conlon at this time? Conlon had one foot on the side of the car.

What did Rodgers say to Conlon? He said—"Are they past yet?" Conlon replied, quite plainly for me to hear—"They don't pass until later."

What occurred after that? Conlon got into the car, which went off with the three men towards Banbridge.

Witness added that after that the baby required her attention, and she went up Sinton's back avenue.

Did you return to the road again? Yes.

Where did you go then? I went towards the Tullylish road, and met William M'Dowell, the postman, and I gave him some letters. I then walked on past Tullylish Church, afterwards turning back to go up Sinton's avenue. It was then witness heard the shots fired. They were fired in quick succession.

WITNESS'S FEARS.

Cross-examined by Mr. Shiels—Why didn't you tell what Rodgers said on the first taking of your deposition? The explanation is this: My employers did not want me to give evidence at all; I was terrified, because there was a report at the time that it was a Sinn Fein murder.

Why did you give your former deposition? The sergeant came for me.

Is your employer Mr. Sinton, and was he in the barracks when you made the deposition? No, he came to the barracks afterwards.

Mr. Shiels—Why were you afraid to make a statement about Rodgers at the first taking of your deposition, and why did you invent that statement since?

Witness (hotly)—I did not invent that statement.

Mr. Mussen said that Mr. Shiels had no right to make such allegations.

Mr. Shiels persisted, and inquired from the witness why she did not tell at the first time.

Witness—I was a lone girl out in the world. If it had been a Sinn Fein murder, and if they had looked for the assassin, as they have done, I was afraid of them looking for me, and maybe murdering me for telling.

What clothes did Rodgers wear on that day? I cannot tell; I recognised his face, and he had a soft hat, grey in colour.

Questioned as to how she remembered Rodgers, witness replied that Rodgers' face once seen would never be forgotten. (Laughter).

Mr. Collins—The man you say was William Conlon, who was on the road that day, made no attempt to conceal himself? None whatever.

You know Conlon lives in Gilford? I know nothing about him.

How far is Sinton's avenue from Gilford? It is supposed to be a mile.

Conlon got into the car? Yes, three yards from me. I am quite certain about it.

Did Mr. Sinton direct you to go with the sergeant? He told me to put my hat and coat on, and go with the sergeant.

Did he tell you to tell the truth? He told me not to be blubbering and crying; to make no statement; to pretend to be an "innocent," and that I knew nothing. Witness added that she had told the whole truth.

Mr. Mussen remarked that they could quite understand Mr. Sinton's anxiety for the safety of the witness and the child.

The prisoners were further remanded in custody, and removed to Dundalk Jail.

THE AERO ENGINE IN GOVERNMENT COMPETITIONS.

An interesting feature of the Government aircraft competitions at Martlesham was that the machines with the best performances in each class (the Westland-Napier in the small aeroplane class, £7,500 prize, and the Handley Page-Napier in the large aeroplane class, £8,000 prize) were installed with Napier 450 h.p. Aero engines. They were the only aeroplanes in the competition so fitted. Both aeroplanes scored heavily in the economy test, due undoubtedly to the lightness of the engine in relation to its power. The performances put up in the competitions by these prize winners for economy, reliability, and speed reflected the superiority of the British Aero engines.

ALLEGED INTIMIDATION AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES.

CHARGES IN TYRONE ELECTION PETITION.

Strong military guards were posted at Omagh Courthouse yesterday, when the trial of the election petition arising out of the recent Tyrone County Council elections was opened before Mr. Commissioner E. J. Phelps.

Sentries were posted at all approaches to the court, while within the building strong guards with fixed bayonets were mounted.

The petitioner in the Omagh case, Robert Lyons, Mount Castle, Donemana, one of the defeated Unionist candidates, seeks to upset the return of Patrick Cunningham, Thomas Jordan, and Alexander Donnelly, on the grounds of alleged personation, undue influence, and intimidation. The Unionists are also endeavouring to have a large number of votes cast at the election disallowed, and ask that a scrutiny should take place, and that petitioner should be returned on that scrutiny.

Mr. G. Fitzgibbon, K.C.; Mr. A. B. Babington, K.C.; Mr. E. S. Murphy, K.C., and Mr. J. S. Baxter (instructed by Mr. A. C. Leitch, Omagh) appeared for petitioner; Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. J. Murnaghan (instructed by Mr. George Murnaghan) for Patrick Cunningham; Mr. John Muldoon, K.C., and Mr. J. Murnaghan (instructed by Mr. J. O'Hanrahan) for Thomas Jordan, and Mr. T. M. Healy, K.C.; Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. J. Murnaghan (instructed by Mr. F. Shiels) for Alexander Donnelly, the third respondent. Mr. George Brett acted as registrar.

PETITIONER'S CASE.

Mr. Fitzgibbon, opening for the petitioner, explained how the petition arose. There were six candidates for four seats. Mr. Herdman and the three respondents were declared elected, and the petitioner was the first unsuccessful candidate, the other unsuccessful candidates not contesting the matter. The lowest candidate elected was Mr. Donnelly, and his total poll was 1,935. The next (unsuccessful) candidate was Mr. Lyons, with 1,897 votes, so that the majority between them was only 38. Individual votes, therefore, became of great importance. The first and main ground on which petitioner challenged the election was that the respondents did not secure the majority of lawful votes. They claimed there were personated 95 voters who did not vote at all; and, as to that, it was rather significant, as would appear in the course of the trial, that some 29 people rose from their grave, and (if they were not personated) polled in spirit. There was also a claim that 15 people voted double—that was to say, people on different registration units in respect of separate qualifications voted twice. There were people who came to vote, and, on arriving at the polling booth, found they had already been voted for. They demanded special voting papers and recorded votes for use in a trial like that. The votes that petitioner challenged out-numbered those which formed the majority of the last successful candidate, and, indeed, of the next one or two candidates. Proceeding, counsel detailed the election figures, and went on to refer to the particulars furnished by both sides to the Court. Counsel recalled how in Parliamentary election petitions the petitioner challenged vote after vote till he got a majority of one, and then the respondent began his counter-objections till he got a majority of one, and then the game of battledore and shuttlecock began again. This was the first case that had ever come up for trial under the system of Proportional Representation, and he failed to see how the old system of procedure in Parliamentary election petitions could be adopted in this case.

The Commissioner said that it could not possibly be adopted.

A RECOUNT.

Counsel said that any single vote might have vital effect after the quota, and therefore he thought they would have to begin at the beginning of their objections, and go right through, and then let his friends on the other side start their recriminations. At the end, it seemed to him, it would be the duty of the Court or returning officer to hold a recount.

The Commissioner—It seems to me that under the rules of procedure that is the only course I can possibly adopt.

Continuing, counsel said that the general charges of illegal practices substantially depended upon personation. They would find that personation, particularly in some registration units, was almost universal. They would have coming up there from one particular unit a number of people who never went near the poll at all, for reasons best known to themselves, and who were personated to a man. The district he referred to was Glenlark, and the entire unit was voted out, he thought, with two exceptions. In that case all people belonging to one of the rival organisations stayed away, but were duly recorded as having voted. Substantially the same thing occurred in other units. With regard to the charges of intimidation, counsel told how in Glenlark and Glenchiel districts threatening notices were posted, and in the present unfortunate state of the country they knew full well how deterrent an effect these notices would have, particularly in such an isolated, mountainous district. One of the notices was directed to voters named William and Elizabeth Griffiths. They were posted on the house, and read:—

"It is understood that you intend voting Unionist to-morrow. Now, in voting Unionist we take it you vote to keep Ireland in bondage. Therefore, if you come to-morrow, be prepared to meet your God, for you shall not return. What has been done in the South can be done in the North. The time for humbug is over.—(Signed) Black Hand of Glenelly."

The Commissioner—Am I to understand that if you succeed in a scrutiny you will abandon the charge of illegal practices?

Mr. Fitzgibbon—Certainly; we don't want this thing all over again.

THE DIFFICULTY OF PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION.

The Commissioner—This is a very public matter, and if I find that intimidation prevailed to such an extent that there was no freedom of voting, I am bound to set aside the whole election.

Mr. Muldoon said that Mr. Herdman's return was not challenged by the other side.

Mr. Fitzgibbon—That is the difficulty of this blessed Proportional Representation business. A man who has delivered an illegal vote has delivered it probably for four or five candidates. It seems to me that if you come to the conclusion that there was by any single candidate in this election wholesale intimidation or illegal practices you must set the election aside.

PERSONATION CHARGES.

Mr. Babington then handed in the death certificate of Jane Fox, who died on 12th March, 1920, and a witness swore that a woman came into the booth and voted in the name of Jane Fox, and swore that she was the person whose name was on the register.

Mr. Lynch said that there was no evidence of identification.

The Commissioner—Indeed there is. However, he would consider the matter.

The first case taken after lunch was that of Mary Anne Brown.

John James Hill said that he was a personation agent in the booth, when a woman came in to vote in the name of Mary Anne Brown. He did not know the woman at first, but when she turned to go out he recognised her as a woman whom he knew. The woman was not warned.

Mr. Fitzgibbon produced the certificate of the death of Mary Anne Browne, dated November 27th last.

The case of James McElhill was next taken up, and evidence was given that a man with McElhill's number came forward and voted after he had been sworn. That man was afterwards identified as a pork-curer in Omagh.

A witness swore that McElhill went to the war, and he had never seen him afterwards, and another witness proved that Mrs. McElhill was in receipt of a pension for the death of her husband, who was killed on active service.

Similar evidence was given in other cases, and the Court adjourned.

NATIONAL TEACHERS' SALARIES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—The situation created by the recent decision of the Arbitration Board affords, if fully utilised, a favourable opportunity of redressing for our time the teachers' salary grievance. Every teacher is putting himself the question: "Will the Commissioners of National Education rise to the occasion?" Some of us believe that they will. There is, however, one grave obstacle to an agreed scale between the Commissioners and ourselves. The danger lies in the Commissioners, with, let us grant, the best intentions in the world, holding on to some of those "bridge of Mirza" scales known as "the Duke," or "the MacPherson," scale. It may be safely asserted that no scale based on these "window dressing" Treasury devices will satisfy the teachers of Ireland. What will happen in the event of disagreement between the Commissioners and the Irish National Teachers' Organisation? The old fight, waged so long, must, with superadded bitterness, be renewed on the morrow of the "award." Is the vista presented by this contingency one that any patriotic Irishman wishes to contemplate?—Yours, etc.,

D. A. MEEHAN,
Principals' Representative, Eastern District.

Ballyfin, Mountrath, October 4th, 1920.

In a message, dated Constantinople, October Reuter's Correspondent says:—The British, French, and Italian Delegates on the Board of Administration of the Ottoman Public Debt will assume control to-morrow of Turkey's finances. The rebels have pillaged the ancient town of Nicaea, and destroyed the historic church there.

MESOPOTAMIA.

The War Office issues the following communiqué:—There is little news from Mesopotamia:—

On the Lower Euphrates the reconstruction of the Ur-Samawa Railway is being pushed forward. The Arabs have offered no opposition, though parties have been seen observing our progress. On the 1st instant a rebel band set fire to the railway bridge at Bakbuil, two miles north of Samawa.

On the Middle Euphrates some sniping is reported by our posts near Hillah, over the Husainiya Canal.

Elsewhere there has been no noteworthy incident.

WALL STREET EXPLOSION.

ARREST AT PITTSBURG.

Telegraphing on Monday from Pittsburg, Reuter's Correspondent says:—Until early this morning the police were questioning a man named Zelinaka, who hails from Brooklyn, and who was arrested last night, with a quantity of dynamite in his possession. The police decline to indicate the result of their questioning, but a report is being forwarded to Washington, and may, it is believed, result in many arrests in New York and Brooklyn. Information is withheld, but it is reported that Zelinaka left Brooklyn at the hour of the Wall street explosion. He offered a furious resistance to the police before he was taken into custody at a hotel here. Among the remarks which he is reported to have made to fellow-passengers on a train from Cincinnati was, "See what we did in Wall street. Next time it will be bigger and more terrible." It was this observation and others which were reported by fellow-passengers to the police that led to his arrest.

A later telegram says:—It is understood that the questioning of the suspect did not take a very serious form, as the man was badly frightened, and lay cowering in the cell, unable to speak coherently. Konkel, his fellow-passenger on the train, who was responsible for his arrest, has hopes of securing all, or part, of the twenty thousand dollars offered for the discovery of the guilty persons.

RUSSIA AND CHINA.

M. De Giers, says a Reuter's message, dated Paris, Monday, in the name of the South Russian Government, to-day addressed a telegram to the Chinese Government, protesting against its refusal to recognise the Russian Legations and Consulates. He declares that the Government of General Wrangel is the successor of the temporary Government of Generals Denikin and Koltchak, which was represented, up to the present time, in China by diplomatic agents. The telegram adds that nothing can justify the Chinese Government in acting in this way directly after the recognition of General Wrangel's Government by France, and the victories gained by General Wrangel and by Poland. The Note finally stated that the Chinese Government's decree infringes the rights and privileges of Russian subjects, guaranteed by treaties and conventions between Russia and China, and declares that Russia will not recognise any acts contrary to these treaties and to these conventions, but will hold China responsible for any damages and loss which may result from such action.

BOLSHEVIST GOLD IN THE UNITED STATES.

The Department of Justice (says a Washington telegram) has ordered an enquiry into the source of the recent importation of 340,000 dollars worth of Russian gold, in the belief that this is possibly portion of the Bolshevik propaganda fund in the United States. The shipment of this quantity of gold was ostensibly in payment of purchases by the Russian Government of American war supplies left in France, particularly of locomotives.

EGYPTIAN CONSPIRACY CASE.

Telegraphing from Cairo on Monday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The trial for conspiracy, which began on July 20, against Abdel Rahman Bey, local secretary to the Egyptian Legation, and twenty-eight others, ended to-day. The Judge-Advocate's summing up lasted sixteen hours. The Court will announce its findings on Tuesday.

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT.

SMALL VESSEL'S RACE FOR SHELTER.—The ss. Aberfoyle has been forced to put into the port of Dublin on her voyage from Londonderry to London. The Aberfoyle experienced engine trouble owing to the storm in the Irish Channel, and will have her defects set right by Dublin shipbuilders before again setting forth for the Thames.

BREAKDOWN AT WESTLAND ROW STATION.—Much inconvenience was caused to passengers on the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway during the busiest hours of yesterday afternoon by the derailment of a coach during shunting operations at Westland Row. Passengers were obliged to leave, or join the trains at Lansdowne Road Station. The obstruction was removed at about 6 o'clock.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY'S SALE OF WORK.—The annual sale of work and gift day in connection with the South American Missionary Society will be held to-day and to-morrow in the Gregg Memorial Hall. A variety of useful and ornamental articles can be obtained at a minimum cost, and also country produce. A concert in connection with the sale will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Clergy Club Room.

ALLEGED BURGLARY.—Two young labourers, named W. Matthew Reid, Upper Rutland street, and Thomas Coslett, Coles lane, were charged on remand in the Southern Police Court yesterday with having broken into the wholesale tobacconist premises 105 Capel street, on the night of 23rd ult., and with having stolen tobacco and cigarettes, value £29 16s., the property of Mr. McEvoy, the proprietor. The defendants were returned for trial to the City Sessions.

DUBLIN WORKERS' HOSPITAL FUND.—A largely attended meeting of representatives of various labour bodies in the city was held on September 30th at 33 Lower Gardiner street for the purpose of considering a proposal to establish a workers' hospital fund. After lengthy discussion, it was decided unanimously to establish a fund in aid of all the Dublin hospitals. A committee was appointed, and it was decided to ask all workers to pay 2d. per week for this very charitable object. It is hoped that the employers of the city will assist by deducting the amount mentioned from all their employés when they receive their consent. The following constitute the committee:—Messrs. Stafford, Co.C.; Brooks, P.L.G.; Verdon, Collins, Delaney, and Mrs. Quigley. Secretary—W. Killigrew, 2 Pimlico square, Dublin, to whom all communications should be addressed.

CHILDREN'S CARE COMMITTEE.—The quarterly meeting of the Children's Care Committee, 5 Leinster street, Dublin, was held last Friday at the office (by kind permission of the National Council of Women). Reports were presented of work carried on during the summer, including the deputation to the Estates and Finance Committee of the Corporation regarding the establishment of a day industrial school. The deputation included representatives of teachers' organisations, labour organisations, the Juvenile Advisory Committee, and other bodies. Work in this direction will be resumed when the rate for the coming year is under consideration. Half-fares for children have been obtained between Westland Row and Sydney Parade by one train per week during the summer. The Committee were under great obligations to the Committee of the Irish Women Patrols, whose members undertook the supervision of the children. The position of the school feeding for the coming winter was under the anxious consideration of the Committee, and the Executive were authorised to take any necessary action. Arrangements were made for holding the annual meeting in December.

CHARGE AGAINST TAILORS.—In the Northern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Lupton, four tailors, Edward Carey, Albert street; Patrick Byrne, Holy Cross Cottages, Clonliffe road; John Foran, North Great George's street, and Richard McDonnell, Summerhill, were charged by Inspector Byrne with having, on Saturday evening, wrongfully and without legal authority, watched and beset the premises of Messrs. Burton, Ltd., North Earl street, with the view of preventing the firm from carrying on the business of drapers and clothiers. They were charged with doing this by standing together on the carriage way in front of the premises, the first two named defendants displaying a large placard bearing the inscription: "Supporting the foreigner you help emigration. All orders given to Burton's are executed in England." There was no trade dispute, it was stated, existing between Messrs. Burton and their employés. A crowd was attracted to the place. Evidence having been given in support of the charges, the defendants were remanded until Friday, and admitted to bail in £10 each, with a view to having counsel engaged for the defence.

DEPARTMENT'S BUTTER-MAKING AND POULTRY SCHOLARSHIPS.

As a result of an examination held under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture on the 9th and 10th September, the following have been awarded scholarships, tenable at the Munster Institute, Cork, and the Ulster Dairy School, Cookstown:—

At Munster Institute—Miss C. Murphy, Castle View, Little Island, Co. Cork; Miss M. M. O'Hanlon, Lisloose, Oakpark, Tralee; Miss K. T. Condon, Ruppalagh, Kilfinane; Miss N. O'Driscoll, Coombe Bank, Valentia, Co. Kerry; Miss A. Cottrell, Baltimore, Co. Cork; Miss M. F. Murphy, Castle View, Little Island, Co. Cork; Miss N. O'Sullivan, Brosna, East, Brosna.

ARCHBISHOPS OF DUBLIN.

AN INTERESTING RECORD.

Church of Ireland citizens of Dublin have had in recent years several opportunities of witnessing the enthronement of a Metropolitan Archbishop. The resignation through failing health of Archbishop Peacocke, the acceptance of the Provostship of Trinity College by Dr. Bernard, and the translation of Archbishop D'Arcy to the See of Armagh are events all of the last decade. The ceremony which takes place on Thursday will have, however, a special interest of its own, where the name of Gregg in the annals of Dublin Church history of modern days takes its place on the roll list of occupiers of the See. We must trace back through centuries of time to find record of the men who have carried on the religious work of the Metropolitan diocese, counting from Archbishop Patrick or John Comyn or St. Laurence O'Toole. We find Dr. James Margetson, Dean Thomas Jones, the Hon. William Carmichael, and Dr. Arthur Smyth all holding in turn the high office in the 17th century, and in the 19th the familiar names of Agar, Cleaver, Beresford, Magee, Whately, Trench, Plunket, and Peacocke possess the prefix of Archbishop in their designation as connected with the capital of Ireland. The scene of the enthronement, Christ Church Cathedral, or the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity, to give it its official title, became the Archiepiscopal Seat or See in the reign of Henry VIII.

The story of the sacred edifice has been well related by Mr. William Butler, and the handsome building at present in existence is due to the munificence of Mr. Henry Roe, who just fifty years ago gave a large sum for the restoration and re-building of the Cathedral, then fast falling into decay. The union of the diocese of Glendalough with that of Dublin is of long standing, but the inclusion of Kildare only took place in the nineteenth century, since which time the United Diocese has sustained the high traditions of the past under the care of the successive Archbishops. In the Royal Irish Academy is preserved the original seal of Archbishop Smyth, with the date 1766 engraved on it, and in the Cathedral itself are numerous memorials of the great men who have been connected with it.

The lives of the various Archbishops are full of interest to the historian, and the late Dr. Stokes inspired much zeal in the paths of research by his lectures on ecclesiastical history. One in particular on "William King, D.D., as an Administrator of a Diocese," and another, "The Churches and Endowments Due by Dublin to Archbishop King," telling much lore of the old city and the work of this energetic prelate after he was translated from Derry to Dublin in 1703, when he came into close touch with the "terrible Dean" of St. Patrick's—Swift—and the other literary lights of the age.

Another interesting volume could be written on the old Palace of St. Sepulchre (now Kevin street Police Barracks) and the rights and privileges of the Archbishops of former times, and the scenes witnessed in their splendid residences, both in city and country, for formerly Tallaght and Swords had as summer visitors the great prelates to occupy the fine residences there ready for their use. The jurisdiction of the Archbishops in former times extended over a considerable part of the old city and beyond, and their powers and authority were very great, while the district immediately round St. Sepulchre's comprised a place of refuge, and was known as "The Archbishop's Liberty."

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND.

The Council of the Church of Ireland Clergy Widows' and Orphans' Society held a meeting at their offices, 11 Molesworth street, Dublin, last Thursday. Present:—Rev. Canon Pim, Chairman; Mr. R. D. Ormsby, Mr. L. E. Steele, and Rev. Harvey Stewart. The following resolution was passed unanimously:—"The Council of the Church of Ireland Clergy Widows' and Orphans' Society have heard with deep regret of the death of their late friend and colleague, Mr. Edward Dillon, and desire to place on record their appreciation of the valuable services he rendered for many years as a member of the Board and honorary treasurer of the Society. They respectfully tender to Mrs. Dillon and her family their expression of sincere sympathy in the loss which has fallen upon them." It was decided to hold the next election on Thursday, 18th November, when one annuitant will be elected.

THE ARCHBISHOP-ELECT OF DUBLIN AND FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Archbishop-elect has written the following letter to one of the secretaries of our leading Church missionary societies:—"In my opinion one of the primary remedies for any stagnation in religious life we may observe is awakened interest in missionary enterprise. I am satisfied that the Church's vitality is in direct proportion to its missionary activity."

STOCKS CLOSED FIRM.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, MONDAY.

Stocks opened easier. The unfavourable Bank statement caused early selling. Oils, Steels, and Equipments lost 1 to 4 points. Sears Roebuck fell 6 points on rumours of new financing. Railroads were variable, with some investment shares declining sharply on realising. Canadian Pacific advanced 4 points on prospective large earnings. Minneapolis, St. Paul, and S. S. Marie gained 5 points. The general market, however, rallied later on buying of Railroads and covering in Industrials, especially Oils, Motors, and Steels. The closing was firm.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

DUBLIN DISTILLERS GOOD. NORTHERN RAILS DEPRESSED. TEXTILES AND OILS PROMINENTLY GOOD. DUNLOPS DULL.

There were limited dealings on 'Change yesterday, but with one or two exceptions prices exhibited a firm front, and the gains in the Funds were at least comforting from more respects than one. Consols, War 5 p.c., and Funding Loan were all good. Banks marked time. The feature in Breweries and Distilleries was the sharp recovery in Dublin Distillers Ord. Marconis closed harder. Rails were pretty steady, except Great Northern Ord., which was banged down to 50 at the close, a fresh low point record. Textiles improved. Dunlops closed sellers, but Oil and Tobacco shares were all freely supported at rising prices.

The Funds were good. Consols rose ⅛ to 46, War Loan 5 p.c. ⅛ to 85, 85¼, and Funding Loan ⅜ to 67¼, while India Stock and Corporation Stocks show no change.

In Banks, Nationals repeated 15⅛, and Provincial 19¾.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, Dublin Distillers Ord. rebounded 4s. 6d. to 60s., and Guinness Pref. ⅛ to 9⅛.

In Marconis, the Ord. rose 3d. to 56s. 9d.

Home Rails were very idle, but Great Northern was pressed for sale, and finally closed nearly 2 lower at 50. Great Southern Pre.-Ord. were unchanged. All others were neglected.

Trams, Gas, Bakery, Drapery, and Miscellaneous Securities were idle.

As regards Manufacturing shares, Coats rose 6d. to 53s., after being 52s. 6d., and Spinners 3d. to 49s. 3d., 49s. 6d., but Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. fell 3d. to 18s. 9d., and Helys Pref. repeated 14s. 6d.

In Trading, etc., Dockrell Deb. shares remain at 5.

Other business done included Dunlop Rubber Ord. 29s. 9d., 29s. 6d., Distillers Finance Corporation 36s. 6d., and Esperanza 48s. Imperial Tobacco rose 9d. to 51s., Mexican Eagle Oil ⅛ to 12⅞, ⅞, and Shells ¼ to 7½. Kern River Oil marked 30s. 6d.

COAL AND STOCKS.

REMARKABLE RISE IN RUSSIAN SECURITIES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Although a not inconsiderable period of suspense has to be bridged before it will be possible to state definitely that there is to be no miners' strike, it was being taken for granted in Stock Exchange circles yesterday that the coal crisis had almost ceased to count as a market factor. A decidedly interesting feature, and one that might very well be described as notable, having regard to the latest news from various sources respecting conditions in Moscow, was the rise in all things Russian—State Railway and Corporation bonds, Oil shares, and Mining shares. Firmness characterised the gilt-edged market throughout, and the changes, though few, were all in the upward direction, the 5 p.c. Loan and the Funding being prominent. India 3½ p.c. were also in favour. One of the busiest markets was that for Home Rails, where not only were the ordinary stocks supported, but investors were buying prior charges. The only movement in Argentine Rails was a decline in B.A. and Pacific on less favourable talk regarding the dividend. Hitherto the market has been reckoning on 6 p.c., but now the estimate has fallen to 5 p.c. for the year to June 30th last, hence the fall in the quotation for the stock. It was reported that the Southern San Paulo Railway Company has received advice from the San Paulo that the ad-referendum contract entered into with the Government of the State of San Paulo for the purchase of the railway by the State was duly laid before Congress, but was not considered before September 30th. The contract has, therefore, lapsed, and the President of the State advises the company that Congress does not approve of the purchase of the railway, and will cancel the law authorising the same.

LONDON STOCKS FIRMER.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Much more interest was taken yesterday in the Stock markets, and quiet confidence marked the proceedings. The miners' decision was not known during business hours on Friday, and markets, therefore, experienced the benefit yesterday of the decision to take a fresh ballot. The "House" has all along taken the view that a strike was unlikely, and that view is, naturally, strengthened by the events over the week-end. There is a firm tone practically all round, and for the first hour or two a fairly large business in connection with the week-end orders was done. There was a slackening down when they had been dealt with, but in certain directions dealings were tolerably active. One or two features were in evidence, the chief of them being Esperanzas. They were fluctuating wildly, being 10s. up during the early dealings at 2⅝, and falling away, closing 2¼ on the publication of a cable regarding the latest development position, given in another column. Funding Loan continued to take the lead in the Consols market. Among the new Corporation issues, Bristol 6 p.c. hardened to 95, but some of the other Corporation and County stocks were easier. India stocks were firm.

FOREIGN BONDS QUIETLY STEADY.—There were few important movements in foreign stocks, but steady buying of Chinese Bonds was going on. The 5 p.c., 1896, rose 1 to 69 x.d., and the 4½ p.c. of 1898 were 2 points higher at 57. Argentines were higher all round, but French loans were unsteady at 49½ for the 5 p.c. and 39½ for the 4 p.c.

Changes:—Rises—Chinese 5 p.c., 1 to 69; do. 4½ p.c., 2 to 57; German Threes, ⅛ to 6⅛; Japan 4½ p.c., 1 to 108; Russian Fives, 1½ to 23. Fall—Uruguay 3½ p.c., 1 to 66.

HOME RAILS FIRM.—The more hopeful feeling with regard to the trouble in the coal trade had a favourable effect on Home Rails, where prices, more particularly of the heavy stocks, advanced. Some of the Welsh stocks were lower, including Rhymney and Barry. There was no material fall during the coal crisis, and neither is there likely to be any substantial recovery in the event of its settlement.

CANADIAN AND FOREIGN RAILS.—Canadian Pacifics added 4 points at 178. Grand Trunks were unchanged. No rally was shown in Argentine Rails, and Pacifics further fell to 55½. The market appears to be getting nervous as to the dividend expected in about a fortnight. Centrals were 62½ only, but "B.A.G.S." and Westerns remained at 55½. Mexican Railways were steady, but the forthcoming publication of traffics is awaited with no little interest. Leopoldinas at 34½ were dull. San Paulo lost 2 at 183, and United Havana lost ½ at 81.

INDUSTRIALS MODERATELY CHEERFUL AT THE OUTSET.

NEW DUNLOPS AT A DISCOUNT.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The accumulation of orders over the week-end, though comparatively small, was sufficient to give a touch of brightness to the Miscellaneous and Industrial market. It cannot be said that many fresh buyers came in, but the general tendency was, nevertheless, towards an appreciation of values. The less satisfactory strike news had not arrived by the time the House closed, and the situation previous to the later turn of events had been regarded as more hopeful. Specialities figured prominently in the final make-up. Among the leaders, in which business was in moderate proportions, Courtaulds were a better market, but Dunlops receded on the intimation that underwriters of the new issue will receive 50 per cent. of the Stock. As, however, a number of underwriters are understood to compose investors who sold the old shares for the sake of underwriting the new, and were presumably quite prepared to hold any shares that might be put on them, the situation may not exercise such a depressing influence on the old shares as might have otherwise been expected. The new shares (15s. paid) were, however, dealt in at a discount. There was little to attract interest in the Iron and Steel section, where movements were few on balance, and prices generally inclined to yield. Vickers, however, closed unchanged at 22s. 9d. Swan Hunters at 2¼, Cargo Fleet at 19s. 6d., and Bolckow Vaughans at 25s., were steady in the absence of sufficient business to apply a real test, but Armstrongs closed 3d. easier at 24s. 3d. ex div., after being 24s. offered. Guest Keen were also offered, and finished with a net decline of 6d. at 44s. In the Coal group, Wm. Cory at 2⅜ and Powell Duffryn at 2⅛ were unchanged; but D. Davis at 9s. 9d. were easier, and North's Navigation yielded the turn at 8s. 9d. Breweries, as a rule, were dull, but City of London Ord. were a bright spot, with a rise of 5 points to 170. Elsewhere business was very restricted. In Hotels also there was scarcely a deal registered. Nitrates were uninteresting, and Textiles, though showing firmness here and there, finished without much improvement. Courtaulds were a good market, rising to 7⅝, and Amalgamated Cottons were 24s., but Listers reacted to 27s. Joshua Hoyles eased to 2⅜. Among Stores, J. Barker shed 3d. at 33s. 6d. Harrod's hardened to 2⅞, but Whiteleys yielded to 24s. 3d., or 6d. down. Van den Berghs were in demand, rising ⅛ to 2⅝ ex div.; but among other Foodstuffs and Caterers there was no movement. In the Lead group the tendency was easier, Bays receding ⅛ to 6⅛, and Sudan Plantations reacting to the figure, or ⅛ easier. Pekins were not so good at 18s. Imperial Continental Gas were marked 133½, or a point up; but other Gas Stocks were unchanged. In the Shipping section, Cairn Lines were not so well supported, and closed with a slight loss at 23s. 3d. x.d., but Cunards were a firm market at 25s. 6d., and Furness Withy were harder at 31s. Insurance securities drew scarcely any business. Eagle Star yielded ¼ at 14¾ x.d. Royal Exchange were at 410. Brazilian Traction, at 45, showed no change in the Canadian-American list. There were sellers about of Dunlops, which closed a dull day with a net loss of 9d. at 28s. 6d. It is pointed out that, although the underwriters are to take 50 per cent. of the issue, this means that the £1,500,000 of the issue is in safe hands, and of the rest many underwriters are said to be disposed to hold on to the new shares. The latter (15s. paid) were dealt in on a basis of 11s.-12s. Tobacco shares were good, with Imperials 51s. 3d., and British-American Tobacco 3⅜. A. Baker were 27s. 6d. Magadi Soda shares kept strong on the anticipation of a favourable announcement, the Ord. advancing to 18s., and the Def. leaving off at 8s. Centrifugal Separators, in which there was considerable speculation about 18 months ago, when the price went to 3¼, were animated yesterday, receding on balance to 2¼. Rolls-Royce were hardly for choice at 27s. 9d., and Austin 10 per cent. Pref. Ord. brightened to 6s. 9d. bid.

MINING MARKET STEADY.

LIVELY DAY IN "ESPERS."

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Owing to what was regarded as the hopeful turn of affairs in the coal position over the week-end, members attended the "House" in quite a cheerful frame of mind yesterday. It cannot be said that this was translated into anything approaching activity, though there was certainly more business passing generally than was the case last week. Esperanzas were again the honeypot, and, as both buying and selling orders came to hand in fairly large numbers, this particular spot was a hive of activity right from the outset. On Friday last the shares closed at 2⅛, and the execution of purchases in the morning caused an extraordinary amount of excitement. At a very rapid rate the price rose to 2⅝, and various firms, of whom there is a large number in the "Esper" market now, got rather badly left. After various fluctuations, and despite the great rush at first, the shares at the close—that is in the "street"—were no better than 2¼. This set-back of 10s. from the top was due to the receipt of a further development cablegram, which certainly put the position quite lucidly, and cleared up any misrepresentation that had existed previously. What the market had desired to know was the length of the vein along which the rich ore was exposed. This turns out to be 47ft. During the following week the north drift was extended 21ft., showing an average reef width of 25ins., assaying 13oz. gold and 397oz. silver per ton of 2,000lb. Although this is a distinct falling off, it is, nevertheless, highly satisfactory. The other Mexican shares that had formed the entourage naturally receded with the leaders, there having been nothing solid in their case to cause an advance. The rather better feeling which manifested itself for Kaffirs on Friday became more pronounced, and it was the general experience that, where buying orders were received, there was by no means an abundance of floating stock. Modder B were dealt in at 5s. shares for the first time, the splitting arousing little or no interest. Rhodesians again got a bit of a shake up. Chartered being bought by bears, who do not altogether relish the outlook, while Globes were given a lift as a result of the latest cabled news, and Falcon, for no very definite reason, also came to the front again. Pending arrangements for the stabilising of the price of the metal, Tin shares continued to stagnate. Broken Hill Props. were a disappointing market. The rights valued at 1s. 9d. were deducted, and the shares dropped 3s. 3d. Applicants for Debs. are reminded that the 8th inst. is the last date. The award in connection with the miners' dispute at Broken Hill will be found in another column. Apart from the shares mentioned, another twist was given to Russo-Asiatic in the belief that the position as regards the company's properties will shortly take a less unfavourable turn.

OIL SHARE MARKET IRREGULAR.

SOME LEADERS STRONG.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Active interest in the Oil share market yesterday was once more confined to the leaders and a few specialities, among which an outstanding feature was again provided by Mexican Eagles. Dealings in these shares were on a large scale, particularly in the morning, a fair number of buying orders having reached the market over the week-end, and in response to the demand the price continued to soar. Transactions in these shares, as well as in other favourites, slackened considerably in the afternoon, causing them to recede slightly from the best point reached, although both the Common and Pref. still registered appreciable advances at the close. The strength of the market in Mexican Eagles is illustrated by the fact that, although Paris was a seller, the offering from that centre entirely failed to check the upward movement, any shares coming on the market being readily absorbed. Reports from Mexico regarding the oil industry generally are of a highly encouraging character, and estimates of the final dividend due to be declared by the Mexican Eagle in December are decidedly optimistic. An encouraging factor in connection with yesterday's buying of the shares was the large number of orders for small lines, which is a pretty good indication that the small investor is becoming alive to the possibilities of the company. A quietly confident tone prevailed elsewhere in the market, and, while Shells finished a trifle easier, Royal Dutch and Burmahs kept firm. Considerable liveliness was witnessed in Kern Rivers, which, after a firm opening, came on offer from the provinces, and moved down sharply, the sales being presumably on behalf of shareholders who are realising part of their holdings in order to provide funds to take up the new. One of the features of the day was a revival of interest in Russian securities, in which Oil shares participated, this being due to hopes of a more settled state of affairs in the country in the not distant future. Higher prices ruled for Ural Caspians, North Caucasians, and Spies. A steady business was transacted in Trinidad issues, without, however, affecting prices to any appreciable extent. In other directions, Venezuelan Oil Cons. came into renewed demand and enjoyed a sharp advance, and improvements were scored by English Oilfields and Uroz Oilfields. Closing prices:

RUBBER SHARES DULL.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The price of rubber weakened to 1s. 5¼d. per lb., and the share market has lapsed into a depressed mood. Rubber Trust declined 9d. to 24s. 9d., and Anglo-Dutch eased to 44s. Anglo-Malay were down ⅛ at 35s., and Batu Tiga lost ⅛ at 50s. Central Sumatra were 6d. lower at 13s. 9d. Losses were also shown by Highlands at 51s. 3d., Langen Java 36s. 3d., and Malayalam 31s. 3d.; Mendaris 23s. 6d., and Seaport 26s. 3d. Serdang Central at 35s. and Tandjong at 52s. 6d. each fell ⅛.

THE MONEY MARKET.

EASIER LOAN RATES.

Bank Rate (changed April 15th) .... 7 p.c.

The market easily repaid what was due at the Bank in the way of loans, and in the open market a pretty comfortable day has been experienced with regard to money. Running loans were continued at 5½ p.c., while fresh loans and balances were obtainable at 5 down to 4½ p.c. In view of monetary conditions discount rates were inclined to be easier, and there was a little more inquiry for bills, particularly those falling due within the year. The general rate was 5¾ p.c. for November and 6 to 6¼ for December paper, although very occasionally November maturities were taken at a small fraction less.

The price of gold gave way 4d. to 118s. per oz. fine. A fairly large amount was available, the bulk of which was taken for India and America. Bar silver is ½d. lower spot at 58½d. per oz., and ½d. down for forward delivery at 57⅞d. per oz. The dominating influence at the moment appears to be that India is doing nothing in the way of purchasing, while there is also the fact that China has rather large stocks.

New York shows little change on balance among foreign exchanges, but the small movement shown is fractionally against London. French francs depreciated, however, and at 52.25 the Paris cheque had a net rise of about 30 centimes. The Brussels rate was moved in a similar way. The Norwegian rate was less favourable to London. China 'changes moved in our favour.

New call notices will be sent to you in due course. It is proposed to close the company's financial year on December 31 next."

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

The North Broken Hill Company has received the following cable, dated the 4th inst., from Melbourne:—"Final award made by Justice Edmunds includes the following terms:—All stoping of ore on night shift to be abolished, which reduces number of shifts from three to two per day. Regarding hours, working time reduced from 5½ days of eight hours to five days of seven hours, thus reducing the total nominal working hours from 132 hours to 70 hours per week. Minimum wage for underground workers increased from at the rate of £3 18/- per week of 5½ days to at the rate of £4 10/- per week of five days, all other margins for skilled miners and contractors to remain as hitherto. Miners' Union still considering award, and strike not yet declared off."

Esperanza, Ltd., received the following information with regard to the Descubridora vein by cable yesterday:—"Development No. 5 Level for week ending 30th September—North drift extended 21 feet; average width of reef is 15 inches, assaying gold 13 ozs., silver 397 ozs. per ton of 2,000lbs.; South drift extended 15 feet; average width of reef, 12 inches, assaying gold 4 dwts., silver 13 ozs. per ton of 2,000lbs." Office Note.—A distance of 10 feet was driven on the north drift for the week ended 23rd September, making a total distance of 47 feet driven on the rich ore. Attention is also drawn to the fact that the manager cables the average of gold and silver per ton of 2,000lbs., whereas previously he cabled the averages on the basis of 2,240lbs.

A correspondent of the Associated Press at Mexico City telegraphs that the concession which has been granted to Mr. Alfred Mackenzie, a British subject, to explore and exploit all the oil lands of Lower California between Santo Tomas and Punta de Canoas, does not mean that there will be any encroachment on American rights. It appears that United States corporations have twice the amount of oil lands conceded to the British in Lower California.

The directors of Van den Berghs advise the Ordinary Shareholders that, although the amount of the liability in respect of excess profits duty, etc., has not yet been settled, they are of opinion that ample provision has been made to meet any possible liability in this respect, and that the balance of the undistributed profits are sufficient to enable the sum of £468,750 to be capitalised. In pursuance of the resolution passed on February 10th last, the Board have decided to capitalise this sum of £468,750 by the distribution of three fully-paid 15 per cent. Pref.-Ordinary Shares of 5/- each for every Ordinary Share held on October 13th.

Shareholders of Inglis and Co. were recently offered 56,000 Ordinary Shares of £1 each at 30/- per share, payable 5/- per share on application, 5/- on allotment, 10/- (premium) on October 15th, and 10/- on November 30th, 1920.

The loan of 20,000,000 dollars arranged by the Norwegian Government through the National City Company of New York is on a 9 per cent. basis.

The directors of the Westinghouse Brake Combine announce that they have decided to amalgamate the interests of this company with those of the Consolidated Signal Company, Ltd., and have entered into an agreement for the purchase from the Consolidated Signal Company of all the shares held by that company dealing with railway signals and safety devices. The Board, therefore, recommend (1) that the name of the company be changed to the Westinghouse Brake and Saxby Signal Company, Ltd.; (2) that each of the £10 Shares be sub-divided into 10 shares of £1 each; (3) that the capital be increased to £1,200,000 by the creation of 800,720 new shares of £1 each; and (4) that the necessary alterations be made to the Articles of Association. The directors propose to issue by the capitalisation of part of the reserves and undivided profits five new shares of £1 each, fully-paid, in respect of every £10 share held on October 22. The consideration to be paid to the Consolidated Signal Company, Ltd., is £416,112 in cash, and they will thereafter subscribe and pay in cash for 416,112 shares of £1 each at par in the company. An option will be given to the Westinghouse Air Brake Company of Pittsburg to subscribe for 100,000 £1 shares of the increased capital of the company in cash at par in consideration of a trade agreement to be made with the Union Switch and Signal Company of Swissvale, Pa. Owing to the difficulty in arriving at a correct valuation of the company's interests in Germany and Russia it has been deemed desirable to establish a new company under the name of the Westinghouse Brake Subsidiaries, Ltd., with a capital of £40,000 in 40,000 shares of £1 each, which will take over these interests. The consideration for such interests will be 39,928 fully-paid shares of £1 each, which will take over these interests. The consideration for such interests will be 39,928 fully-paid shares of £1 each of the Westinghouse Brake Subsidiaries, Ltd., and the directors propose to distribute these shares in due course to the present shareholders in the proportion of one £1 share for every £10 of shares in the company, such value of £39,928 to be charged against the reserves and undivided profits of the company. Each of the present shareholders will thus eventually become the holder of 15 shares of £1 each, fully paid, in the enlarged company, and one £1 share, fully paid, in the Westinghouse Brake Subsidiaries, Ltd., for every £10 share in the company now held by him. Extraordinary general meetings are to be held on October 7 and 22 to pass the necessary resolutions. In order to obtain the increased working capital necessary an issue of Debentures will probably be made at an early date. Messrs. H. G. Brown, D. E. Norton, W. Wingfield, and S. P. Wood will join the Board to represent the interests of the Consolidated Signal Company, Ltd.

Home and Colonial Stores.—An extraordinary general meeting of the Home and Colonial Stores, Ltd., will be held on October 7, to consider resolutions to increase the capital to £2,400,000, by the creation of 900,000 additional "A" Shares, Ordinary, of £1, and to alter certain of the Articles of Association, so as (inter alia) to permit of the capitalisation of undivided profits, and to alter the title of the "A" Ordinary Shares to Ordinary Shares. A confirmatory meeting will be held on October 22, when a further resolution will be submitted to capitalise £300,000 of the Reserve Fund by the distribution of 300,000 new fully-paid Ordinary Shares of £1 among the Ordinary shareholders, in the proportion of three new shares for every share held. The shares will rank for dividend as from July 1, 1920.

Why do you buy shoes?

If you buy them only because they look nice and you can afford another pair quickly, it does not much matter what shoes you buy.

But if you want good-looking shoes which will keep their shape; shoes which will stand resoling; shoes which will last—then it is worth while to buy K shoes.

The dominant fact about K shoes is that they are built for wear. The insole, which is the foundation of the shoe, is so strong and of such excellent leather, that it keeps the shoe in shape for years and preserves and prolongs the good looks and life of the shoe.

Men's K Shoe in Fine Box Calf (Black), or choice Nut Brown Willow Calf. Stout Soles, fashioned on new model lasts of perfect form.

A very popular Ladies' K Shoe in a pretty arrangement of patent cap & heel-piece with fine glazed kid.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.—LONDON, Monday.—Smaller supply of fat cattle, mostly shorthorns and Herefords from the Midland and home counties, with a few Devons, no Irish beasts being on offer. Quality was better than last week, and, owing to the shorter supply and improved trade in the dead meat market, prices advanced ½d. per lb. for all classes of cattle. Average dead-weight quotations per 8lbs.—Shorthorns, 1st grade, 13/-; 2nd, 12/4; Herefords, 1st, 13/2; 2nd, 12/8; Devons, 1st, 13/-; 2nd, 12/10. Sheep were penned in very small numbers, mostly from the Midland and home counties, with about 200 Scotch. Quality was better than last week, and prices were fully 1d. per lb. higher. Fat lambs were also in small supply and in keen request at 1d. per lb. more money. Average quotations per lb.—Downs, 1st grade 27d., 2nd 24d., 3rd 22d.; longwools, 1st 24d., 2nd 22d.; crossbreds, 1st 25d., 2nd 23d.; lambs, 1st grade 30d., 2nd 28d. Numbers in the market—Cattle 513, sheep and lambs 1,330.

BIRKENHEAD, Monday.—For the cattle on offer there prevailed a slow but firmer demand compared with the week-end, best bullocks making up to 1/5½ and other kinds proportionately lower. At the Wallasey lairages the sheep and lamb trade was quiet. For best quality lambs 2/3 per lb. in sink was realised, and for best sheep 1/9. On offer about 1,000 cattle and 2,000 sheep and lambs. Dressed beef, which was in slightly shorter supply, met a fair trade at rates ranging from 1/3½ to 1/4 per lb.

HULL, Monday.—Fair supply of beef; best quality 21/- per stone, secondary 20/-; cows 20/- per stone; young sheep 31/6, ewes 24/6; pigs, small 30/- per stone, strong 28/-. Numbers—Fat cattle, 600; stores, 89; fat sheep, 633; store, 240; pigs, 250.

GLASGOW, Monday.—HEGGARTY AND KELLY'S REPORT.—Large supplies of fat cattle at the sale in Glasgow market to-day (Monday). For all classes of bullocks trade was slow, and less money had to be taken to effect a clearance. Cows and bulls were also in slow demand at reduced prices. Sheep and lambs were a smaller show, and made high prices.—Duke street, Glasgow.—(Advt.)

Lever's Palm Nut Cake and Meal, Pig Meal.—Agent, W. Rourke, 36 North Circular road, Dublin.—(Advt.)

LIVERPOOL, Monday.—BACON—Some small allotments of American and Canadian Wiltshires have been made, which are taken up freely, importers leaving little on hand, and a fair demand being experienced for all fresh parcels. Cumberlands and bellies in fair condition are scarce, and low grades continue to be shipped to Ireland. Danish is scarce and in good request, while Irish is also in short supply, but buyers reluctant to pay the high prices now ruling. HAMS scarce and move freely along with a proportion of bacon. Shoulders generally quiet, though fresh squares find ready acceptance when available. LARD on the spot is not over plentiful to satisfy the fair demand for both prime steam and American refined. CHEESE fairly active for controlled at 1/5½ per lb., delivered to retailers, though other kinds attract little attention. Cheshire quoted 1/7½ to 1/8½ per lb., with free Canadian white 158/- to 160/- and coloured 163/- to 166/- per cwt. BUTTER remains firm for controlled at 336/- per cwt., the price to consumers from to-day being 3/4 per lb. Irish difficult to obtain at extreme figures. EGGS steady at 40/- to 41/- per 120 Irish and 38/6 to 39/6 for Canadian.

WOOL.—BRADFORD, Monday.—The Australian sales have opened slightly above this market for the best merino wools, but this has not produced any improvement. Business is quite stagnant, and Bradford buyers are not operating in the Colonies. Quotations are nominal, as there is no disposition to do business. Combers are commencing short time this week.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

The market for TIN opened with firm features, but a subdued tone set in later, while dealings were kept within very moderate limits. Cash on balance ruled 5/- to 10/-, and forward 20/- dearer against Friday's close. Cash quoted £271 15/- to £272, three months £277 10/- to £277 15/-, settlement price £272. Sales 200 tons; cash at £272 to £271 10/-, early November £273 10/-, three months £279, £277, then £277 10/-. COPPER met a better demand, and with sellers reserved cash ruled 40/- and three months 25/- per ton higher on balance. Cash quoted £95 5/- to £95 10/-, three months £96 10/- to £97, settlement price £95 5/-. Sales 1,200 tons; cash at £96 to £96 5/-, early November £96 10/- to £96 5/-, three months £96 5/- to £96 15/-. Electro £111 to £114. LEAD firmer; sales 500 tons: October £34 10/-, December £34 10/-, and January £34 10/- to £34 15/-. SPELTER dearer; sales 300 tons; November £61, December £41 10/-, and January £41 15/-, all per ton. TINPLATES—I.C. cokes 52/6 per box ex works.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Monday.

Chartering conditions remain steady, with fair number of orders in circulation, and rates firm from Eastern ports. From River Plate, demand more subdued, owing to dullness in maize market, but owners by no means pressing, and prompt trading worth 95/- up river to United Kingdom-Continent. North American markets show more interest for heavy grain on basis of 12/- per qr. United Kingdom, 14/- Antwerp-Rotterdam, 16/- to 16/6 Spanish Mediterranean, Oran, Algiers, or West Italy. Gulf loading worth shilling extra in each case. American coal rates easier, owing to railway congestion on other side. Baltics, market firm. Bombay on dead weight indicates 85/- one and 90/- two picked ports United Kingdom. Australia steady for new season's wheat at 125/- to 130/- United Kingdom or Continent, and coals at 120/-. Time charter quiet, with large vessels for American coal trade quoted at about 14/- to 15/- per ton per month for a period of six to nine months' trading. Fixtures—Steamer, Dalny, to United Kingdom or Continent, October-November, 115/-, beans; steamer, American Northern range ports to Antwerp-Rotterdam, prompt, 10.75 delivery; steamer, Wales to West Italy, 45/-, coal; steamer, Wales to Lisbon, 37/6, coal; steamer, 4,500, 10 per cent. American Northern range ports, 15th October, cancelling, to French Atlantic, 12.50 dollars, coal.

AUTUMN PLOUGHING.

Despite all that has been said and written about early ploughing, there is reason to believe that even yet its advantages are not generally realised. In many parts of the country the work of ploughing stubble land is not undertaken until late in spring, while lea is often not broken until immediately before it is sown with oats. On all except light sandy soils, the time to take preparations in hand, if the best results are to be obtained, is, in the case of stubble land, as early in the autumn as possible; and with lea land, the aim should be to have the work completed by the end of January. The nature of the Irish climate is such that on any but the very lightest soils it is impossible to work land to any extent during the winter, and heavy rains in spring often unduly delay tillage operations. The time, therefore, to get work done is during autumn when the days are long, the weather is fine, and the conditions are favourable.

For a successful root crop it is essential that the land should be not only thoroughly cultivated, but also rendered absolutely free from weeds, otherwise the germination of the seed and the proper development of the young seedlings are interfered with. The soil must be clean, deep and fine, yet not too dry at sowing time. Experience has taught the successful farmer that to attain such conditions the corn stubble should be ploughed as early as possible, so that he may reap the full benefit of the influence of air and frost in pulverising the soil.

Furthermore, the adoption of early ploughing effects a more even distribution of labour. Land ploughed under favourable conditions is infinitely easier to work, and imposes a less strain both on men and horses than land ploughed when the weather is damp or wet and the soil adhesive. The exposure of the soil to winter frosts, etc., renders possible the employment of less labour on the work of preparing a seed bed in spring. The farmer who is well on with his ploughing at the turn of the year can await without anxiety the busy period which comes with the first mild days of March. Sowing can then be completed with the least possible delay over preliminary tillage operations. And in a backward year the land can be allowed sufficient time to dry before commencing operations.

The ploughing of lea ground is often delayed because of a mistaken idea as to the value of the winter grazing it affords. As very little growth takes place after the month of October, it is evident that if lea land is closely grazed in autumn, no object is served by leaving it unploughed subsequently. If it is then broken up, the vegetable matter in the soil will be decomposed and converted into available plant food by the time the oat crop is sown, so effecting economy in the use of manure—an important consideration. Lesser quantities of manure are required for crops on properly tilled land than would be the case where cultivation is hurried and insufficient.

In addition to the advantages detailed above autumn cultivation reduces the prevalence of insect pests, particularly wire worms and leather jacket grubs, because early ploughing removes much of the vegetable material on which those pests feed during the winter. The soil being in good condition at sowing time, crops make quick and vigorous growth, and the plants are soon beyond the stage at which they are most easily injured.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Ltd., have received a telegram, dated 1st, from their Melbourne branch, as follows:—The sales were opened at Adelaide to-day, when 20,000 bales were offered, of which about 8,000 bales were sold at and after the auctions. The market was irregular, but was materially helped by competition of local manufacturers. As compared with appraisement prices values were as follows:—Merinos super, 64/- to 70/-—75 per cent. higher; ditto good shafty fleece spinners, 64/- to 70/-—75 per cent. higher; ditto warp fleeces spinners, 64/- to 70/-—35 per cent. higher; ditto good spinners, 60/- to 64/-—25 per cent. higher; ditto shafty topmakers, 64/-—20 per cent. higher; ditto good average top-makers, 60/- to 64/-—10 per cent. higher. For inferior descriptions there was no bidding, while pieces and bellies were mostly withdrawn at under appraisement prices.

SUCCESSFUL SUSSEX BULL SALE.

Several notable winners were included in the sale conducted by T. Bannister and Company at Thurston Park, Framfield, Sussex, yesterday, of Mr. G. T. Eaton's entire herd of pedigree Sussex cattle. The 26 head realised £4,460, the average being over £171. Five hundred and fifty guineas were paid by Mr. Julius Drew, Wadhurst, Sussex, for the young cow, Brownings Stonedown the First, winner of the first prize and championship at the Royal Show, Darlington, Royal Counties Show, Bath, and West of England and Sussex County and other shows this year. The yearling bull, Brownings King the Sixth, also first and reserve champion at Darlington Royal Show and other shows, realised 525 guineas from Major Eustace Loder, Handcross, this being a record price for a Sussex bull. Another bull, Brownings Miller, the Twenty-seventh, first and champion at Darlington Royal Show, Bath, and West and Sussex County, etc., but a year older than the previous bull was sold for 425 guineas to Mr. Drewe.

FORTHCOMING AUCTIONS BY
McKEOWN, MacKEOGH, & CO.,
AUCTIONEERS, VALUERS, &c.

SALE OF EXCELLENT FARM,
KILBARRACK LODGE, SUTTON, Co. DUBLIN.

WE have been instructed by Miss M. McKenna to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, in our SALEROOMS, 4 HAYMARKET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY NEXT, 7th OCT., at 1 o'clock p.m., all the Interest and Goodwill in her excellent Farm, situated as above, and containing 61a. 2r. 0p., or thereabouts, subject to the judicial rent of £57 15/6. P.L.V., £91 9/9.

There is a substantial Two-storey Residence on the holding, which adjoins the Howth Tram Line, and affording a magnificent view of Dublin Bay, Dun Laoghaire, and Howth Head. It contains 2 reception and 7 bedrooms, kitchen, with close range; scullery, pantries, coal house, and dairy, all of which are in perfect order. The Out-offices comprise stabling for 4 horses, byre to accommodate 20 cattle, implement shed, granary, large store, with loft; motor, calf and poultry houses, all in enclosed yard. There is also a workman's house adjoining. The Lands, which are of prime quality, are all in grass, except 5 acres under new meadows, and, by virtue of its geological character, being of a rich clay loam, they could be equally adapted to tillage purposes; there is also an admirable water supply on the farm. The property, which is very conveniently situated, is only ten minutes' walk from Baldoyle Railway Station (G.N. Railway), and about 6 miles from the Metropolitan Market, and should prove a most lucrative investment. For further particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to

THOMAS EARLY, Esq., Solicitor, 16 Henry street, Dublin. 'Phone 3121.

IMPORTANT SALE OF
LARCH HILL DEMESNE, RATHFARNHAM, CO. DUBLIN.

WE have been favoured with instructions from the Marchioness of Aberdeen to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, in OUR SALEROOMS, 4 HAYMARKET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY NEXT, 7th OCT., at 1.30 p.m., all the Interest in her Residential Property, situated in the baronies of Upper Cross and Rathdown and County of Dublin, and containing 79 acres, or thereabouts, subject to a rent of £155 4/-, payable half-yearly. P.L.V., £129 5/-.

The Lands, which are of prime quality, are all in grass, and are well fenced, have an abundant water supply, and are nicely divided into average sized fields.

There is a magnificent Residence on the Demesne, containing 4 reception and 8 family bedrooms, kitchen with close range, sculleries, pantries, servants' rooms, baths (h. and c.), etc., etc. The Dwellinghouse, which is approached by a beautiful winding drive, is situated in a most salubrious and picturesque locality. It commands unrivalled views of the Metropolis, Dublin Bay, Howth, Lambay, and on a clear day the Mourne Mountains can be easily discerned.

The Out-offices are extensive, containing motor and coach-house, harness room, spacious stabling, cow sheds, large barn, granary, and hay lofts, etc.

There are fruit and vegetable gardens attached to the residence.

It is rarely that a property of this description comes under the notice of purchasers, and a unique opportunity of acquiring an ideal country seat, within easy distance of Dublin, is hereby afforded to Capitalists, Dairy Proprietors, etc., etc.

For further particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to Messrs. O'KEEFE and LYNCH, Solicitors having Carriage of Sale, 30 Molesworth street, Dublin. 'Phone—99.

SALE OF HOUSE, FORGE, AND PLOT OF GROUND,
DUBBER, FINGLAS, CO. DUBLIN.

WE are favoured with instructions from Mrs. Jane Davis to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, in our SALEROOMS, 4 HAYMARKET, DUBLIN, on THURSDAY NEXT, 7th OCT., at 1.30 p.m., all the Interest in her compact Property, situated as above, and containing 1½ acres, subject to an annuity of £1 6/2, half-yearly, to the I.L.C. There is a good house, containing five apartments, and the out-offices comprise extensive forge, stabling, and cattle shed. An attractive feature regarding the sale of this property is, that the Smithy, which is fully equipped, is situated in the midst of a highly agricultural district, where a good smith may rest assured of constant employment. For further particulars and Conditions of Sale apply to

THOMAS EARLY, Esq., Solicitor, 16 Henry street, Dublin. 'Phone 3121.
